

Negotiating Bill

Where does Governor Thomas H. Kean stand? School officials point out that he has said, in the past, that he would veto such a measure. (It has been through the Legislature before, but has always failed until now.) One official commented that if the Governor sees enough votes to override any veto, he might let the measure sit on his desk for 45 days, become law without his signature, and then blame the Legislature.

Pressure Building. Meanwhile, the pressure builds on both sides. When the bill came to a vote in the Assembly, the gallery was full of teachers. It is not known how many Princeton teachers attended, if any. Mrs. McGoldrick remarks wryly that school districts had to pay substitutes for teachers who took a "personal day" to attend, as well as continue to pay the salaries of the teachers themselves.

"They have a personal day in their contract," she points out, "and we didn't make any inquiries. It's a day they are entitled to."

All school board members have been asked to write Senator Stockman. Mrs. McGoldrick herself has written to him twice. Mr. Gordon will be writing him also, and assuring the League of Municipalities of Borough support.

The PREA's executive committee has its regular meeting next Tuesday. Mrs. Johnston said last week that she had no plans to call a special meeting.

"I will urge the executive committee to take a stand," she said, "but probably no more than that. I will suggest that they endorse the idea of getting PREA members to write the Senators."

Mrs. Johnston says the PREA membership is "almost 100 percent" of the 200, or so, teachers in Princeton's schools. Union and board are now ending the first year of a two-year contract. Both sides are preparing for negotiations expected to start in the fall.

Mrs. McGoldrick referred to negotiations for the present contract as "serious, tough bargaining, but relatively smooth."

"It's reasonable for the staff to want this," she said, "but it's reasonable for us not to, as well."

event qualified for the state championships to be held Friday and Saturday at Rutgers University.

Fletcher won his third Group II sectional crown in the 110 high hurdles with a record-breaking time of 13.9. Sought by a number of colleges, Fletcher, who hopes to compete in the 1984 Olympics, has reportedly narrowed his choice between Nebraska and Alabama.

Young won his specialty, the 400 meter, in 47.8. The 400 meter is a specialty of the Princeton track team.

shot put, with a toss of 53-11½ and placed second in the discus behind South Brunswick's Dave Nolle. Young's best throw was 143-10 while Nolle had a 145-9.

Also qualifying for the weekend state meet from PHS were Eddie Rice, third in the 100 and fifth in the 200 meter; Mike Schwab, fourth in the 800 and his twin brother Steve, fifth in the 800 (their times were 1:58.1 and 1:58.7) and Eric Kapp in the pole vault.

SUMMER WRESTLING

Offered by Recreation Dept.

The Princeton Recreation Department will sponsor a summer wrestling clinic to be held at Princeton High School on Tuesday evenings from June 21st - August 9th. The program will provide an opportunity to wrestle weekly 18. Entrants must be 40 years under supervision and instruction.

Leland Merrill, Princeton doubles event, with Con-High School wrestling coach, will head the program. Guest instructors will demonstrate specific techniques and application.

After a weekend of all-day wrestling, matches will continue in from 6:30 to 7:45 p.m., while grades 9 through college will meet from 8 to 9:30. The fee is $10 for Princeton residents, $20 for non-residents. Those interested should register with the Recreation Department at 921-9480 before June 13.

Lacrosse Deadline: Those interested in playing in the men's summer lacrosse program must register by Friday.

Registration forms are available at the Princeton Recreation Department in the Township Hall Annex. The fee is $10 for Princeton residents, $20 for non-residents.

TOURNEY PLANNED

By Tennis Foundation.

The Youth Tennis Foundation will hold its first Father's Day Classic Tennis Tournament beginning on Saturday, June 21st.

The tournament will be held on or before June 1. There will be a singles and doubles event, with consolation tournaments for first round losers in each event. The tournament will be held on Princeton University's hard courts.

After a weekend of all-day tennis, matches will continue in the evening beginning Monday, June 20, with the finals to be held on June 24. Entry forms may be obtained at the YTF Office, 71 University Place, or by calling 924-4343.

PHS GIRLS FOURTH

In State Sectionals. Princeton High girls track coach Lamont Fletcher was "ticked pink" with the performance of the Little Tigers in the Group II NJSIAA sectional track meet held in East Brunswick.

PHS finished fourth in a field of 14 with 23 points—only three behind second-place Lawrence—and produced two individual champions.

Kerri Phox set a new meet record in the long jump with a leap of 17½ and Gail Woolston won the 400 meter again with a clocking of 58.9.

Others from PHS qualifying for the girls state meet which will also be held this weekend at Rutgers are Heather Grey and Nadia White, third and fourth in the 800; Susan Grey, third in the 1600; Suzette Cumberbatch, fourth in the long jump.

South Brunswick won the team title with 49½ points.

FLETCHER IS FIRST

In Eastern Track Meet.

Princeton High's Stephan Fletcher added another laurel to his track record by winning the 110 hurdles at the prestigious Eastern Track Meet at Randall's Island Monday.

Fletcher equaled his personal best of 13.8 in the event. That 13.8 is also the qualifying time for the Golden West Invitational Meet, one of the top track events in the country.

A measure of the level of competition at Randall's Island fell on P.J. Young of PHS who tossed the shot put 57-1½ feet for his personal best—which earned him a fourth place finish. Two days earlier, Young had won the Central Jersey Group II shot put title with a toss of 53-11½.

Eddie Rice of PHS jumped 20-9 to finish sixth in the long jump. The only other performer from this area to win a championship at Randall's Island was Steve Brown of McCortristin High who won the 400 meter in 47.8. The 400 meter is a specialty of the Princeton track team.

Princeton Caterers are Senior League champions this season, followed in the final standings by Hult's, Merrill Lynch, Jay's Cycle. Opinion Research and Commodities Corp. tied for last place.

47.2 but Brown has already qualified in the 200 meter.

SEASON ENDS

In Princeton Soccer League.

On the final week of Princeton Soccer League play, the Bantam League enjoyed a fine turnout with Princetonian Hair defeating Center Sports, 1-0, and Princeton Volvo losing to the U. Store 6-2. Z & W Honda defeated Mexican Village II, 2-0, while Princeton Bank battled Princeton Hardware to a 1-1 tie.

Woodwinds blanked Home Decor, 2-0, and Cytoen enjoyed its first win of the season with an 8-0 triumph over Haagen Dazs. Continuum Dynamics lost, 2-0, to Nassau Inn.

In the Senior League, Merrill Lynch and Jay's Cycle battled to a 5-5 tie. Commodities Corporation defeated Opinion Research, 4-2, and Hult's Shoes tied Princeton Caterers, 2-2.

Fate of Princeton Airport Still Unclear, But Revenue Up Sharply from Year Ago

Princeton Airport, down on its luck and up for sale just a year or so ago, now seems to be flying higher than ever — even though it is still for sale and its fate as an aviation facility remains unclear.

The airport, actually located just north of the Princeton Township line on Route 206 in Montgomery County, was placed for sale by owner David Van Dyke at about the same time that regular commuter service was discontinued.

Travelers today still cannot fly regularly scheduled flights from Princeton, but the airport's other sources of revenue — including fuel sales, maintenance, landing fees, and so on — are said to be much more robust.

"The airport is in better shape than it's been in for years," says Joe Wilson, the general manager. "We used to have 35 planes based here. Now we have 70 airplanes. Maintenance is up 500 percent; fuel sales are up. Ronson Aviation is offering charter services, plane rentals, and flight school."

Ronson, headquartered at Mercer County Airport, began its satellite operation at Princeton airport in early April. "It's a restricted airport in terms of size," says Peter Hines, general manager of Ronson. "We're not there permanently at this point because we're not sure if it will be sold. But it's a good community and we're pleased with the interest."

On top of that, construction may begin soon on a 53,000 square foot office building adjacent to the airport. A developer from Elizabeth, David Ben-Zvi, has obtained the promise of a $4.3 million mortgage for construction of a cantilevered, steel frame and masonry building to be placed on a seven acre tract. Occupancy is planned for early next year.

The resurgence may be due more to the general economic recovery than to the dedication of light plane enthusiasts who a year ago were lamenting the possible passing of another airport. In any case the airport is still for sale and Montgomery Township still is considering what role, if any, it might take in determining the facility's future.

A TRADITION THAT WILL NOT DIE: Seventy-one years ago Bill Whitney, left, and Arthur Holden kicked up their heels at their Princeton graduation. This past Saturday they marched spryly in the annual Reunions P-Rade before thousands of spectators and graduating seniors who can hope to live so long and so well.

PHS Senior, Named a Presidential Scholar, Shakes Up Capitol with Anti-Nuclear Views

A 17-year-old Princeton High School senior, believed by members of the Reagan Administration to be a radical anti-nuclear demonstrator bent on disrupting a White House ceremony, is working fervently four nights a week in the back of a crowded Nassau Street storefront, concocting ... blend-ins for customers of the Thomas Sweet ice cream shop.

Before anyone forgoes one of those summertime delicacies, we should assure you that Ariela Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Gross of 264 Hartley Avenue, does not really consider herself a wild-eyed radical, and that the Reagan Administration itself has retreated from its initial response to her plan to voice her criticism of the President's nuclear arms policy.

Miss Gross found herself in this Washington tempest after being selected one of 141 high school seniors from across the country selected as Presidential Scholars by the Commission on Presidential Scholars. The distinction carries with it a $1,000 scholarship plus an invitation to visit Washington next Thursday, June 16, to meet with public officials and — if the President's schedule allows — receive medallions from Mr. Reagan himself.

Miss Gross, former editor-in-chief of the PHS student newspaper, and

Boro Officials, Developers Seeking Quick Resolution To Sewer Extension Ban

Last week's bombshell announcement that the state's Department of Environmental Protection would "cease approving any new sewer extensions" into the Harry's Brook trunk line has public officials and developers in Princeton scrambling—though apparently not panicking—in an effort to resolve the impasse.

The Regional Planning Board, which already had a full agenda scheduled at its meeting Tuesday night, tucked in a half hour at the beginning to consider, in Elizabeth Hutter's words, "whether to adopt a recommendation to the governing bodies requiring sewer capacity allocations or whether to adopt the planning board's own policy for reviewing such allocations."

Planning Board chairman Hans Sander participated in an exchange of letters with the DEP's administrator for water quality management, Arnold Schliffman. Mr. Sander expressed his hope that the DEP could meet with Borough and Township officials and the Sewer Operating Committee to discuss

Honorary Degrees Awarded To Two Princeton Residents

A Hunt Drive resident, a retired University professor, a former Princeton basketball star, the architect who helped create the Borough's master plan for the central business district, and a native of Trenton were among the recipients of honorary degrees at Princeton University's 236th Commencement.

The Princeton resident, Charles L. Brown, is chairman of the board of AT&T. The presentation of his doctor of laws degree was made with the following citation:

"His corporate family has been described as 'the biggest on earth,' yet he performs his duties with a remarkable empathy and concern for individuals. These characteristics may reflect his own career beginnings as a young telephone lineman who dug ditches and laid cable for the same company he now leads, with vision and courage, into a new organizational and technological era..."

captain of the cross country team and distance runner on the track team, felt that that meeting would be an opportunity to pass along a letter to the President, expressing her views on the nuclear arms race. She drafted a letter and sent copies to the other 140 scholarship winners, inviting them to add their signatures if they were in agreement.

That letter came to the attention of Gary Stember, executive director of the Commission on Presidential Scholars, a panel of private citizens appointed by the President. Mr. Stember felt Miss Gross's activity was inappropriate.

"Name Would Be Mud," "He definitely threatened my mother that my name would be mud and that my scholarship would be revoked," said Miss Gross. Mr. Stember also told reporters that he was considering cancelling the ceremonies altogether if she insisted on "politicizing the event."

"He probably figured he could scare me," said the PHS student, who continued to circulate her letter and confer by telephone with other scholarship winners. Miss Gross soon learned that Mr. Stember had been upbraided by an official of the Department of Education who stated that "we cannot allow the students and their parents to be intimidated by because of their political views... These students obviously retain all of their rights to express their views and seek out others who may share those views."

Miss Gross has continued to do just that, and as of this Monday she had received more than 20 responses from other Presidential Scholars. "For the most part the responses are very favorable," she said. "Even the people who don't agree are writing three-page letters outlining their positions and when I talk to them on the phone we often end up agreeing."

She still plans to attempt to hand deliver her message to the President. "We don't want to do anything disruptive," Miss Gross said. "On the other hand, the idea that it's inappropriate to 'use' the ceremony as a forum is based on some false assumptions — the biggest being that the White House is President Reagan's house. I feel it belongs to all the people and I would feel no qualms about presenting a letter to the President."

Maybe she should first try to sweeten the man's disposition by presenting him with a blend-in, which — when you think about — is a pretty radical idea in itself.

Rayner said this week that the Township is on the verge of commissioning a complete feasibility study. "We want to see if the airport is worth saving," said Mr. Rayner. Proposals for the study have been submitted by five firms and Mr. Rayner expects that the work will cost about $50,000, 90 percent of which will be paid by the Federal Aviation Agency. "The FAA seems eager to save airports," said Mr. Rayner, "if they are viable." The township expects to award the work for the feasibility study within a month.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

Next Tuesday, The Princeton Regional Board of Education will hold a regularly scheduled business meeting next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Davis Conference Room of the high school.

The agenda includes a number of what are presumed to be non-controversial items, including an evaluation of the superintendent and the approval of his contract and the assistant superintendent's contract for the next year.

A more controversial issue, the proposed renaming of one or more of the school district's elementary schools, may be the subject of some discussion at this meeting, but no action is expected.

BOND SALE HELD

By Township. Princeton Bank, acting as agent for Tucker Anthony & R.L. Day, brokers, was the successful bidder last Monday night in a sale of $1.5 million municipal bonds.

Princeton Bank was the low bidder of eight who specified a percentage rate ranging from a high of eight percent per annum to the 7.60 percent bid by the bank. Princeton Bank's offering price was $1,540,432 for $1,540,000 worth of bonds. Witherspoon Middle School, Mayor Winthrop Pike told the audience that the Township had a AA-1 rating from Moody's and AA from Standard and Poor, and Treasurer John Clausen said he was "pleased" with the percentage rate of all the bids.

The $1.5 million issue is a refinancing of a number of capital projects already completed in the Township and initially funded with short term "bond anticipation" notes. The state sets a limit of five years to these notes, which then must be paid off or refinanced.

In addition to holding this bond sale for past projects, the Committee approved or introduced several current projects with big numbers attached. It unanimously approved the appropriation of $545,000 as the Township's share of the next phase of sewer line rehabilitation by both municipalities.

According to Mayor Pike, the $1 million from Borough and Township will be used to continue the work of removing infiltration and inflow (known as I & I) from the system. Some of the work will be applied to the Harry's Brook trunk line, he said, emphasizing again that the I & I work must be done before it is known what else needs to be done to correct problems of excess water in the system.

In addition, Committee voted unanimously to spend $500,000 to correct a sewer-related problem in the Township Police Station. The money will be spent on a pump

'SUPER' TRIBUNE: By, for and about students at John Witherspoon Middle School, "The Witherspoon Tribune" was for sale Super Saturday, May 21, after three Wednesday afternoons of discussion, reporting, writing, interviewing and editing, and a fourth Wednesday for make-up. It was a PTO-sponsored project, supported by English teachers. Reporters from TOWN TOPICS, The Princeton Packet and The Trenton Times worked with students as advisors. Shown here are sixth-grader Lara Taber, left, and eighth-grader Emily Allen.

Salaries Set. In other money matters, Committee introduced an ordinance that would give Township municipal employees an across the board seven percent pay increase for 1983, retroactive to January 1. Last year's pay hike, negotiated first with the police and then made applicable to all municipal employees, was 8.5 percent. The Borough recently approved a 7.5 percent increase for its employees.

The public hearing on this ordinance, and another appropriating $20,000 for office furniture and equipment for several Township departments, will be held on Monday, July 11, at 8 in the Valley Road Building. Committeewoman Gail Firestone asked that all requisitions except the walkie-talkies and a video recorder for the police department be eliminated from the ordinance, but she did not receive a second to her motion.

The speed limit on Cherry Valley Road may be reduced to 40 mph if Committee adopts an ordinance it introduced on first reading Monday night. The reduction has been recommended by the Traffic Safety Committee and adopted by Montgomery Township, which shares the road as a municipal boundary with Princeton Township.

In other matters, Elizabeth Jablonsky, currently the Township's building sub code official and building inspector, will take on the additional job of construction official from

DOGS ARE AN ISSUE
In PCV. Dogs make nice pets, not only for children, but also for the elderly and disabled.

Princeton Community Village, home to the elderly and disabled, among others on a restricted income, has a strict rule against dogs. Thereby lies a conflict and a tale that has led to a court order for the eviction of a couple who harbored a miniature pomeranian for a weekend in February in defiance of the rules.

Mrs. Lucy Morelli came before Township Committee last Monday night, not, she said, to plead her own case in relation to the eviction order (for which she and her husband have received another postponement by the court) but to plead the case for pets in rental units. She spoke of her husband, a disabled veteran, who was not able to function because of his disabilities but who was motivated by Fifi to take walks and to care for his children and his wife.

She told of the rape in the middle of the night of a disabled woman at Princeton Community Village who had pleaded for a dog and was denied her request. She said the robbery of her next door neighbor might have been prevented by a barking dog.

Mrs. Morelli spoke of a bill currently pending before the New Jersey legislature which she said would allow renters to keep pets, although it was not clear whether she was speaking of public or private housing, or both. And she brought with her a sympathetic letter from the governor.

Her plight received a sympathetic response from Committee member Barbara Cantrill who said the "consciousness of the community has to be raised" in regard to individuals "who need to give the loving care and receive the loving response" that a pet can give. She told Mrs. Morelli it was a "courageous step" on her part to bring her story to the attention of Committee, and added she hoped "it would bring about changes of attitude as well as policy."

No Authority. Mayor Pike reminded Committee that it had "no authority whatsoever" in the matter, because Princeton Community Housing that runs PCV is a privately owned non-profit organization. He agreed to obtain a copy of the bill in the legislative hopper that Mrs. Morelli referred to and to take a look at it, and if Committee felt it was appropriate to write a letter endorsing the measure.

Harriet Bryan, president of Princeton Community Housing, conferred with Mrs. Cantrill in the half hour before Township Committee met, but she left, apparently thinking that the matter was not coming up for discussion.

WOMAN IS ASSAULTED
On Corner at 2:30 A.M. A 43-year-old Princeton resident was assaulted around 2:30 Sunday morning as she was walking on the sidewalk at the intersection of Maclean and John Streets.

A man, Lt. Thomas Michaud said, came up behind her as she was walking and threw her to the ground. He made no attempt to rob or assault her and when the victim told him that she was going to yell for the police, he got up and fled the scene.

The victim was taken to nearby Princeton Medical Center and treated for a large contusion on the back of her head and for a laceration on her right hip.

The suspect is described as a black male, about 27, 6-1, slender with acne scars on his face. He was wearing dark clothing.

were robbed and assaulted at 4 o'clock Saturday morning on Nassau Street near the taxi stand opposite Palmer Square.

The two, who had been attending the Princeton University reunion parties on campus, police said, were approached by three men in their 20s.

Through intimidation and assault (pushing and grabbing) the three forcibly removed the wallet from the pocket of one of the victims and took $80. The three then jumped into two cars, Lt. Thomas Michaud reported, and drove away.

"We have a description of the three suspects and the two cars and we have suspects in the case," commented Lt. Michaud. He anticipated arrests soon, he said.

The victims, Lt. Michaud continued, told police that they vaguely recognized the suspects but did not know them by name. They are believed to be Princeton residents. Police added that the two victims were not students.

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED
In Turning Mishap. A 21-year-old motorcyclist was injured last week when his cycle skidded to the roadway while he was making a turn from Paul Robeson Place onto Bayard Lane.

The cyclist, Mark J. Lanoue of Far Hills, told police that "his rear wheel just slid out" as he was making the turn on the wet roadway. He was issued a summons for driving without due caution by Ptl. Michael Taylor.

He was taken to Princeton Medical Center and treated for a laceration of the right elbow and bruise of the left knee. The oilcrank housing of his Honda cycle was badly damaged in the spill which occurred at 7:25 Friday evening.

Two drivers sustained minor injuries following a two-car crash Thursday afternoon at the intersection of Quaker Road and Route 206 which left one of the cars a total loss.

Brian Bean, 23, of Libertyville, Ill. was heading south on 206 when he attempted to turn left onto Quaker Road and turned into a car operated by Richard Lardy, 31, of Edison. Bean was ticketed by Ptl. David Cromwell for failing to give a proper signal.

Mr. Bean complained of minor head injuries and Mr. Lardy of neck pains after the collision and both were taken to the Medical Center for treatment. The 1978 sedan of Mr. Bean was judged a total loss. Mr. Lardy's 1980 small foreign car sustained front end damage.

THINGS DIDN'T GO WELL
For John Wells. Instead of going on a bike ride, a Long Island resident ended up being taken for a ride-to Mercer County Jail—after he was caught trying to use a stolen credit card.

According to police, John Wells, 32, of Garden City, entered Jay's Cycle on Nassau Street last week and discussed renting two bicycles. For payment for the $200 charge, he offered an American Express credit card.

When the clerk called to verify the card, he was told it had been stolen the previous day in Florida. He called police who arrested Wells inside the store.

Charged with credit card theft and criminal intent, Wells was later taken to Mercer County Jail to await possible action by a Grand Jury.

Charged With Harassment.
A 34-year-old Trenton resident was charged last week by Borough police with harassment of pedestrians.

Jones was arrested shortly after noon by Sgt. William Fitch at the intersection of Nassau Street and Palmer Square E. He was continually annoying and interfering with pedestrians at the intersection, police said, by taking place during a four-day period while the 1979 van had them. He threatened one pedestrian, police said.

Jones was later issued a summons and released. Police mischief, the rear window of a 1982 station wagon was smashed while it was parked in a Palmer Square lot off Hulfish Street.

Moments after Percy Siskowitz of 248 Hawthorne Avenue had parked his car at the Princeton Shopping Center Friday morning, he heard a loud bang.

Seeing no one around, he walked back to his car and discovered its rear window had been smashed out. Nothing was taken, no foreign object was found at the scene, and there were no witnesses.

Lt. Jack Petrone commented that it is possible that excessive heat might have caused the window to burst.

Mr. Siskowitz reported the incident at 11:45 a.m.

DEGREES CONFERRED
Corks Popped. The Princeton flag was unfurled at such unlikely spots as Cox's Store on Nassau Street. Along the road you saw beaming adults walking around with orange and black buttons proclaiming the wearer "a proud parent of '83." In front of Nassau Hall at 7:55 in the morning a worker was addressing the microphone: "Testing, testing." University officials gazed toward the sky and weighed the possibility of rain. And finally, the 1,071 graduating members of the Princeton University Class of 1983 got what they were after for all these years—their degrees, and a chance to pop some champagne corks in front of the University president, William G. Bowen.

The graduating class included 660 men and 411 women. Forty six percent of the women and 44 percent of the men received some form of academic honors.

In accordance with long tradition, the two principal commencement speeches, the valedictory and Latin salutatory addresses, were delivered by members of the graduating class.

In a departure from long tradition, both of those speakers this year were women. The valedictorian was Tobe Mann, a biochemistry major from Leonia. The salutatorian was Simina Farcasiu, a comparative literature major whose family lives in Princeton.

The University also awarded 352 advanced degrees plus six degrees to undergraduates from previous classes. One of those was Gabrielle Napolitano, whose degree was withheld by the college last year after a professor charged that she plagiarized a portion of a term paper. The student denied the charge and filed a civil suit against the University, which she lost. Miss Napolitano did not attend the ceremonies.

He spent 17 Television anchorman W. years with his family-owned Hodding Carter III '57, Mississippi newspaper before Tobe Mann, a biochemistry major from Leonia. The salutatorian was Simina Farcasiu, a comparative literature major whose family lives in Princeton.

Mr. Carter was elected as Department's press alumni trustee-at-large; Mr. spokesman during the first Atlantic and New England states, as well as the Canadian Maritime Provinces; and Ms. Blueumle as a young alumni trustee, elected by the junior, senior and last two graduating classes.

Mr. Carter is anchorman and chief correspondent of the PBS series "Inside Story," which analyzes how well the press coverage succeeded in his first love, the theater. He has produced plays by Edward Albee, John Guare, Albert Innaurato and Arnold Wesker, and musicals such as "Amadeus" and "Nine," which won a 1982 Tony award for best musical.

Ms. Blueumle majored in history and wrote her senior thesis on "A Different Justice: The Nomination of a Woman to the Supreme Court." During the 1983 spring term she worked one day a week in Trenton under an internship from the executive director of the N.J. State Senate, studying the prospects for low-income housing. After graduation, she hopes to work on Capitol Hill, doing research and lobbying for federal entitlement programs.

AREA TEACHER NAMED
For Award from Princeton. Thomas A. Stuart, a social studies teacher at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School, was one of four New Jersey teachers who received awards for Distinguished Secondary School Teaching at Princeton University's commencement exercises this week.

Established in 1959 by an anonymous gift from a Princeton alumnus, the prizes recognize "fruitful teaching and devoted service" in New Jersey schools. Nominations for the prizes are solicited from public and private schools in the state; selection is made by a committee which includes representatives of New Jersey schools and Princeton University. Each winner receives $2,000, and a grant of $1,000 is made to his or her school for the purchase of library books.

Mr. Stuart is a teacher of American studies and U.S. history as well as head football coach at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School. He was voted "Outstanding Teacher of the Year" by the classes of 1981 and 1982 and "Coach of the Year" by the two Trenton newspapers in 1980-81. He is the organizer of a College Night for Mercer County athletes.

After receiving his B.S. from Pennsylvania State University in 1967, Mr. Stuart served with the U.S. Army First Infantry Division in South Vietnam in 1968-69, earning two Bronze Stars, two Accommodation Medals and two Air Medals. He returned to Penn State and earned an M.Ed. in 1970.

Before joining the faculty at West Windsor-Plainsboro in 1978, he taught and coached at Glasgow and Newark high schools in Newark, Del. He did graduate study at the University of Delaware and Rutgers University.

Mr. Stuart teaches in an open classroom, where an observer noted that he had "total command of the attention of his students" and that his presentations were "serious so students could realize the historical importance of his subject, yet humorous at just the right moments."

AWARD FOR SERVICE

To Retired Professor, Erling Dorf of Mercer Road has received an Alumni Council Award for Service to Princeton University.

He is one of three members of the Princeton University community who were honored with commemorative gifts during the 12th annual presentation of awards at the alumni gathering last Saturday on Clarke Field after the P-Rade. The others are George R. Beeble of Philadelphia, an engineer and a graduate of the

Erling Dorf

Woodrow Wilson School who is recognized as a quiet force in the Philadelphia Princeton Club, and John W. Kern III of Washington, D.C., an associate judge on the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and an officer of the Princeton Club of Washington.

A professor emeritus of geology at Princeton, Mr. Dorf has spent a lifetime teaching Princetonians about the history of the earth. After almost half a century on the Princeton faculty, he retired in 1974, but he has continued to work with undergraduate and graduate students in the Geology Department's summer field program. At 77, he is still teaching and doing research in the rugged Bear-tooth Mountains of southwestern Montana and northwestern Wyoming.

He has taught a course on geology in the Princeton Adult School since 1964 and has been twice honored by the National Association of Geology Teachers for his outstanding and stimulating teaching in the field of geology. He received B.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago, but is an honorary member of the Princeton University Class of 1933.

Prof. Dorf was cited by the Alumni Council for his "selfless efforts to explain historical geology to Princetonians of all ages, and especially for his work preventing fossil formation in the Princeton alumni body." In 1977, the citation continues, Prof. Dorf decided "to investigate a whole new stratum of Princetonians: the alumni. Taking over the directorship of the then fledgling alumni college at Red Lodge, Montana, he developed that program into one of the most popular off-campus alumni institutions on record."

Honorary Degrees

The retired professor, Gregory Vlastos, taught philosophy at Princeton. Now living in Berkeley, California, Professor Vlastos was cited as a man who has "elevated his department and this university, refashioned the study of ancient Greek philosophy, and...altered the very course of humanistic scholarship in this nation." Professor Vlastos also is an ordained minister with a degree from the Chicago Theological Seminary.

If William W. Bradley had attended the University of Houston, he might have been inducted into the mythical Phi Slamma Jamma basketball fraternity. Instead the United States Senator from New Jersey received an honorary doctor of laws degree from his alma mater.

"He is, for many, the quintessential Princetonian," the University orator proclaimed. "Powerful of mind and body, compassionate of spirit, he is one to whom others look with confidence and hope for a sense of where we are and of what we might become. A champion of learning, he sees the issues of our time in their larger historical and global contexts..."

Architect Robert Venturi and his Philadelphia-based firm designed the newly constructed Wu Hall on the University campus and also advised the Borough's central business district steering committee. "His gentle buildings enrich our ordinary lives," said the orator.

Trenton native A. Leon Higginbotham Jr. serves as a judge in the United States Court of Appeals. A graduate of Antioch College with a law degree from Yale, he was cited as "an advocate of equal justice for individuals of all races and creeds."

Other honorary degrees were awarded to Wolfgang K.H. Panofsky, a Princeton graduate who now directs the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center, and to Kathleen Coburn, emeritus professor of English at Victoria College in Canada.

PIZZA PYROTECHNICS
In Cordova Road Oven. A burning frozen pizza in an oven at the home of Monika Puchner, 25 Cordova Road, resulted in a call to police who in turn called for assistance from firemen.

The fire was extinguished before firemen arrived, however, and police report no damage to the oven. Police were called at 2 Saturday afternoon.

STATE IS SOUGHT
For Institute Preservation. The conservationists hoping to preserve the unspoiled woodland and farmland on which the Institute for Advanced Study would like to construct a housing development for Township. The Federal government will receive some help this week from the Association (FEMA) in Democratic candidate for conjunction with the New mayor of Princeton Borough, Jersey Department of Barbara Sigmund.

Mrs. Sigmund will lead a (DEP) has recently completed the flood study for back to her old stomping grounds, the Mercer County Board of Freeholders, on Thursday at noon. The Princeton group will attempt to convince the owners to purchase increasing freeholders to form an agricultural retention board which could serve as a conduit for state funds raised through a referendum passed by the voters in 1981.

The bond issue raised a total of $50 million and Mrs. Sigmund and her group, which will include Lawrence Norris Kerr, Jim Sayen, Bill Potter, Howard Myers, and a representative of the Mercer-Somerset-Middlesex Regional Study Council, hope that some of those funds can be used to help acquire the land from the Institute and preserve it. Mrs. Sigmund conceded that her interest in the land was not unrelated to her campaign in the Borough: "It's part of our common treasury," she said. "We all have an interest in it-Township and Borough alike. And I'm going to argue that all of Mercer County has an interest in it."

FLOOD STUDY ON VIEW
For Township. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) in conjunction with the New mayor of Princeton Borough, Jersey Department of Barbara Sigmund. Environmental Protection (DEP) has recently completed the flood study for Princeton Township. The study delineates flood prone areas within the Township and will eventually enable affected property owners to purchase increasing amounts of flood insurance and be eligible for conventional mortgage loans by federally connected lending institutions.

Interested residents are invited to review the flood maps which are available for review and inspection in the Township Engineer's office next week between the hours of 9 and 5. On Monday, June 20, at 8 a public hearing will be held in the Township Meeting Room, Valley Road Building, concerning the study. Representatives from FEMA and DEP and the study consultant will be present to explain the study and to receive public input. Interested parties are invited. For those who are affected by the study and may have specific concerns, the representatives from FEMA, DEP and the Study Consultant will be available to answer questions at the Valley Road Meeting Room on Monday, June 20, between 3:30 and 5. For information, call the Township Engineer's office at 921-7078.

Maybe We All Lose.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I'm not at all sure Township residents should express opinions on the Palmer Square project, but I think Mr. Collins is getting a bum rap.

Some thoughts: Palmer Square is privately owned; two-sides make up an ugly, litter-ridden, black, broken asphalt parking lot; taxes received from the proposed project should aid in all kinds of human needs programs for the Borough; many will be put to work in construction jobs now and later in new shops.

Smaller residential units are planned which could accommodate residents who have supported our churches, the hospital, the United Way for years and years and who prefer to give up larger home without moving far away.

What's so bad about all of this? The "bridge"? We think they are picturesque in Europe. The kiosk? Many really like it and many already use it every day. And local merchants have said that good new shops will help all the stores in Princeton.

All Mr. Collins has proposed can only improve Princeton. There have already been 11 public hearings, two site plan reviews, countless elevations, plans, maps and models, consideration of air rights, open space and sewers, store signs, security and traffic. Isn't it time for cooperation? And then get on with it.

There have already been 11 public hearings, two site plan reviews, countless elevations, plans, maps and models, consideration of air rights, open space and sewers, store signs, security and traffic. Isn't it time for cooperation? And then get on with it.

There will be another Planning Board session on June 16. However, one attorney has already reserved time for his "very lengthy testimony" and a mayoralty candidate has indicated possible legal action (with your money, folks). The strategy is well thought out and very well planned. The 11 p.m. curfew always necessitates another meeting and Mr. Collins loses again.

Or, just maybe we all lose.

Wait for Sewers.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
With the State of New Jersey acting as a spur, the Princeton sewers are finally beginning to bubble up towards a serious solution for the peoples' problems, all over town!

We certainly can recommend that the Regional Planning Board make sure that they have a far more precise program to present before they ask the townspeople to come to another meeting. Obviously, the Collins' plans for Palmer Square will have to wait along — until the basic sewerage plans are settled.

What Good is Ramp?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Do you realize the $25,000

ramp built to make Borough

Hall accessible for wheelchairs is a complete fraud? After arriving at the top of the ramp there is a six inch step to enter the building.

What good is the ramp?

Apparently this step is our do something about this. After all, we have $25,000 invested in

Come March with Us.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As parents and teachers, we urge families to participate in the June 12 March of the Generations against Nuclear Weapons, a parade and picnic in Princeton, sponsored by many regional organizations.

We need to show our children that we are not powerless, and that we can affect decisions made on our behalf by government leaders.

Such action can also help to combat the widespread feelings of anxiety and helplessness found among today's children and young people. Dr. Robert J. Lifton of Yale University, a leader in the study of the psychic effects of the arms race, tells of a doctor working very hard for Physicians for Social Responsibility.

The teacher of his nine year old son asked her class one day if they thought there would be a nuclear war. Ten of the eleven children said yes, and in their lifetime. The eleventh was the doctor's son who felt nuclear war would not occur because his Dad was out working every night to prevent it.

1400 of us went from the

Princeton area to New York

City last year on this date.

Let's bring our children to the

March this June 12 and say NO to the escalation of the arms race and to the idea of a

"winnable" nuclear war.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

LANDSCAPING YOUR HOME FOR ENERGY CONSERVATION

with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

With the increasing costs of energy, the use of plants in the home landscape to conserve energy is coming to the forefront as a major consideration in planning a home site. In a forest, the ground temperature can be as much as 25 degrees cooler than the temperature above the trees. You can create this same cooling effect by planting a well planned forest around your home thereby reducing heating and cooling costs. Some guidelines you might consider following would be the planting of deciduous trees along the south, southwest and west sides of your home. They will block out the hot summer sun reducing your air conditioning costs. In winter these trees lose their leaves and let the sun to help reduce heating costs. Plant the deciduous trees that will grow to considerable size when mature (50 to 75 ft.). Plant them at least 25 to 30 feet from the house and 15 to 20 feet apart. Plant trees that have strong wood and good structural characteristics. These trees will require pruning as they grow to ensure a high canopy to prevent damage to the house roof.

Consider planting trees that are small (less than 25 feet when mature) on the north and northwest side of the house to block winter winds. They are most effective if planted four to six times their mature height from the house. If done properly, energy consumption for heat can be reduced up to 30 percent. Some suggestions are varieties of pine and eastern red cedar.

Regular tree maintenance and tree fertilization will significantly improve a tree's health and growth and are strongly recommended.

If we can be of service please call WOODWINDS (924-3500) for any and all of your tree care needs.

Mrs. Bryan said that she expected the DEP to follow up the charges with the PCH engineers. "We're not particularly concerned," she said, "except that it's another thing that could cause delay." Meanwhile, though, the project was still waiting on the final approval of its plans from the Newark office of HUD and Mrs. Bryan was still hoping that workers could be on the job by the fall. POETRY READING SET
At Coffeehouse, Virginia Lockwood and Jamie McKenzie will present an evening of poetry and song on Tuesday at 8 at the Cafe au Lait, 66 Witherspoon Street. This evening will conclude the spring and summer series of Coffeehouse Readings sponsored by the Princeton Writers' Center.

Mrs. Lockwood is a native of Maine whose work reflects her love of the seashore and out-door life. She is a Wellesley graduate who has been a resident of Princeton since 1940 and been writing poetry for 20 years. She taught for many years at Miss Fine's and Princeton Day School and traveled widely with her late husband, William W. Lockwood, professor of politics and public and international affairs at Princeton University.

Mrs. Lockwood is the mother of two sons and a daughter; William W. Lockwood, Jr., program director at Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts and McCarter Theatre, Stephen C. Lockwood, an architect and urban planner currently working in Kuala Lumpur, and Dr. Julia D. Lockwood, a pediatrician in Maine who specializes in genetic counseling. Mrs. Lockwood has been writing poetry for twenty years.

Mr. McKenzie is a poet, songwriter and folksinger whose work deals with changing relationships, the street people of New York and other social issues. He lives in Flemington with his two daughters, with whom he sings at folk festivals.

Mr. McKenzie is Assistant Superintendent of the

Princeton Regional School District. He holds degrees from Yale and Columbia Universities, and is currently a doctoral candidate at Rutgers University. One June 14 he will be reading poetry as well as singing to guitar accompaniment.

A prix fixe of $4.50 includes coffee, pastry and gratuity.

TO BALLET THEATRE
Trip Planned. McCarter Associates are sponsoring a New York bus trip to The American Ballet Theatre performance of "Don Quixote" on Wednesday, June 15 for the matinee performance.

The group will have lunch (optional) at Adagio Restaurant in the Lincoln Center complex before the performance at the Met. Transportation by charter bus will leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 10.

There are still a few seats remaining for McCarter Associates Donors. For additional information, call the McCarter Associates Office Rensselaer Mathematics and

VOLUNTEERS HONORED
By Library. Janice Stonaker, president of the Princeton Public Library board of trustees, has presented Certificates of Appreciation to 67 volunteers who have helped in the library in 1982 and 1983. Through the efforts of volunteers, the library is able to maintain programs which would otherwise not be possible.

The Adult Basic Reading program is staffed with 14 volunteers. They are Verda Anderson, Julia Bernheim, Ruth Bonner, Frances Day, Pei Hsiang, Anne Klein, Judy Livingston, Cary Peebles, Esther Pollack, Bennett Povlow, Betty Rimalover, Ellen Tabell, Oscar Weber, and Vouletti Williams.

Eight other volunteers make the Home Reader Delivery service possible: Hazel Benjamin, Fern Cloak, Betty Cooper, Grace Easton, Lois Fulmer, Connie Henderson, Pat Sullivan, and Patricia Taylor. In the Children's Department, John Ryan and Kim Tyler have been assisting Dudley Carlson with film programs. The Readings Over Coffee program has been assisted by Jane Alexander, Audrey Colby, Vivian Engelbrecht, Anna Fambro, Charlotte Healey, Mary Mason, Bea Smith and Mary Turnbull.

The Friends Bookstore is kept going by Leah Lemnick and Maxine Melnick. Mary Applegate and Helen Fairbanks have been diligently indexing the local newspapers for several years. Mary Bonotto, Dave Kentler and Suzi Wizowaty have helped with the Friends newsletter which is sent to members three times per year.

The Friends of the Library Council was also honored. The Council includes Samuel T. Arnold, John F. Bales, James W. Clapp, Irene Farley, A. Eugene Frank, Jennifer Griffin, Susan Hillier, Pauline Huntington, Seth Klevans, David M. Ludlum, A.G. Lummis, Edith Martin, Elisabeth Morgan, Barbara Redfield, Joan Robinson, Ann Scotten, Kay Strong, James S. Thornton, Grace Wille, and Ariana Witke.

Other volunteers are Mrs. Hadasa Kale, Sarah Brown, Margot McGregor, Robert Saxon, Elizabeth Shanfield (ESOL) and Conrad Snowden (Long Range Planning Committee). Completing the list are William Volk and Jean Whittall who provided tax assistance to 123 people in the library.

CRAFT OFFERING
At YWCA. Among the varied offerings of the summer session at the YWCA are hands-on craft sessions. Betty Boonin will offer tips on "How to Compete with Your Local Florist" on June 28, during which each participant will complete her own flower arrangement. Liz Adams will teach a Miniature Making Workshop on July 28. Ms. Adams, award winning miniaturist whose work has been featured in national magazines, will enable participants to complete a number of dollhouse-scale accessories, and go home with ideas for more. Scheryl LoMonico will demonstrate the art of Cake Decorating for Beginners on June 29.

Incorporating gardening, cooking and craft use of herbs will be Marjorie Meriam's June 30 "Herb Workshop-Luncheon," where participants will learn what to plant for potpourri, when to harvest, how to dry herbs and how to use them in cooking.

For further information on these classes and many others in the Adult Department, call the Princeton YWCA at 924-5571.

JAZZ BENEFIT PLANNED
By Child Development Institute. An afternoon of jazz and family festivities has been planned for Sunday, June 19, by The Princeton Child Development Institute to celebrate its 13th anniversary. The event will take place at Princeton Day School between 3 and 7 p.m. and will feature such jazz greats as Ed Polcer and The Eddie Condon All Stars and Maxine Sullivan. Guests can also take a ride on Malcolm Forbes's tethered hot air balloon. There will also be a postal balloon lift off and raffles for a 10-speed bike, an Atari 400, a week in Hopetown, Bahamas, a fall weekend in Vermont and other hand-crafted items.

Food and beverages will be sold and picnickers are welcome. Tickets are $10 for adults, $5 for students, and children under 12 will go free if accompanied by an adult. Contributions are tax deductible, and may be sent to the Institute at P.O. Box 2013. For further information call Jersey and one of the first in 924-6280.

the country. Today, under the directorship of Dr. Lynn McClannahan and Dr. Patricia Krantz, the Institute has 20 children in its school plus another five boys in a half way house called "Family Focus."

Modelled after Father Flanagan's Home For Boys, this home integrates difficult children into a family setting and provides them with the structure and training they need to reenter family and community life. The Institute keeps detailed records for reference and research, and through extensive critical evaluation of these records, the directors have set up a system of standards which are used by other schools around the country.

The Jazz Benefit Committee is chaired by Mrs. Frederic E. Fox, Mrs. Roland Machold and Mrs. Thomas Hooker Paine. Other Committee members planning the benefit include Mrs. J.R. MacNeille, Mrs. A. Henry Mosle, Mrs. Tod Peyton, Mrs. Robert Pulley, Mrs. Robert Stabler and Mrs. Sheldon Sturges.

TALKS BREAK DOWN

Arbitration Sought. Hopewell Township police officers, who have been working without a contract since last December, have reported that their talks with Township officials have broken down and that they are requesting that the dispute be settled by binding state arbitration.

The policemen, represented by the Hopewell Township Police Association and the Superior Officers Association of the Hopewell Township Police Association, charged that the Township's initial proposal called for an increase in pay of approximately 3.5 percent and a discontinuation of all college education incentives.

The policemen had requested an increase of about eight percent.

An arbitration date for the Superior Officers was set for next Wednesday, June 15. No date was announced for the other group.

The police organizations charged that Hopewell Township policemen currently are the second lowest paid police in the county, and that starting dispatchers earn so little that they can qualify for state aid. The police added that Township officers now patrol Hopewell Borough, as a result of an agreement by which the Township receives an additional $85,000 a year.

COMPUTER-KIDS

"Camp" at MCCC. Running a lemonade stand, or delivering a daily paper, it's a "small business" with an entrepreneur eight years old, perhaps. Learn how to run it according to business principles in one of the courses to be offered this summer in the "Camp College" program for ages 8-17 at Mercer County Community College, West Windsor campus.

Two three-week sessions will be offered in July and August, Monday-Thursday from 8:30 to 4:30. Session One is July 11-29, and Session Two, August 1-19. The fee is $225, which includes all material except special sports equipment like tennis racquets. The schedule is designed to allow long week-ends for family vacations.

Although computer programming is not required, it is expected to be the most popular of the two-hour academic courses. These include programming, mathematics-algebra, creative writing, typing, reading, and conversational French or Spanish. Languages are taught through games, songs and dialogue between teacher and student.

One-hour courses — including the one called "Entrepreneurship" that shows how to run a lemonade stand — will be given in self-defense, tennis, dance, art, speed writing, "library survival" skills, keyboard skills resources in their family situation.

Linda Perlin MSW, returns with a special evening "After Tootsie — what?" an opportunity to discuss the issues raised by the film, including power, assertiveness and the role expectations women and men bring to their dealings with the opposite sex. "Money Madness," a single evening workshop led on July 21 by Ginny Moore, deals with the emotions centering on money in your life — how it signifies power, love, freedom, and how to deal with those values.

On June 28 Anna Willingham MA, MSW will teach "Resume Writing, Interview Skills and Job Search Techniques." A longtime career counselor, she will focus on all aspects of the skills of seeking job opportunities.

Princeton Area Residents Awarded Degrees and Diplomas

Princeton area residents continue to be awarded baccalaureate, graduate and honorary degrees at college and university commencement exercises across the country.

Catherine A. Tomlinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Tomlinson of Terhune Road, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in Special Education at the 107th commencement of Boston College.

Miss Tomlinson is a 1979 graduate of Princeton High School. Her undergraduate activities included varsity women's lacrosse and field hockey. She earned letters in both, and was on two consecutive lacrosse teams which gained entrance to the national playoff tournaments. After a European tour she will pursue a career teaching in special education.

Kieran Esposito, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Esposito, 196 John Street, was among the 189 members of this year's graduating class who received diplomas at the 138th commencement exercises of Muskingum College at New Concord, Ohio. He received a bachelor of arts degree in history.

Margaret W. Southerland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Southerland Jr. of Western Way, was one of 420 seniors to graduate at commencement exercises at Hobart and William Smith Colleges in Geneva, N.Y. She received the bachelor of arts degree with honors in an individual major.

Dr. Warren B. Martin, scholar in residence at the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, was awarded an honorary doctoral diploma by Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa., where he was the commencement speaker.

Virginia A. Sheeran, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Archibald Sheeran of 177 Parkside Drive, and Katharine S. Dyckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Dyckman Jr. of Province Line Road, have graduated from St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y.

Miss Sheeran earned a B.S. degree with a sport and leisure studies major. She was a Dean's List student and a member of the varsity swim team.

Miss Dyckman earned a B.A. degree as a French major and participated in a program abroad in France. She was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Donald F. Karol, son of Frederick J. and Ruth H. Karol of Belle Mead, has been commissioned a Coast Guard ensign and received a bachelor of science degree upon graduation from the Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn.

Carol M. Gons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Richard Gons, RD 4, 6 Monroe Court, graduated cum laude from Westminster College. An alumna of Monmouth Junction High School, she earned the bachelor of arts degree with a major in elementary education and a minor in social studies. She has been a Dean's List and Honors Student and participated in student teaching and the Westminster field experience/internship program.

David Mantell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mantell, Fairway Drive, has graduated cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania with a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

Jasmine C. Meray, daughter of Lorand Meray and Ruth Farnham of 63 Riverside Drive, received the bachelor of fine arts degree cum laude from the Maryland Institute, College of Art in Baltimore during the recent commencement exercises. A graduate of Westtown School in Pennsylvania, she majored in interior design at the Maryland Institute.

Five area students were among 1,432 graduates who received degrees at Carnegie-Mellon University's 86th commencement.

Three of the degrees were earned at the Mellon College of Sciences. The recipients are Robert L. Reid of 430 Ewing Street, B.S. in biological sciences; Jana L. Caras, 104 Leabrook Lane, B.S. in chemistry; Henry H. Zenie of 28 Audubon Lane, B.S. in physics.

In addition, Howard M. Frazier Jr., 148 Fisher Place, earned the B.S. in electrical engineering from the Carnegie Institute of Technology, from which Lauren F. Calaby, 182 Drummond Drive, Pennington, received a B.S. in metallurgical engineering and materials science.

Virginia M. Hackenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hackenberg of White Pine Lane, has received the M.D. degree from Emory University.

David F. Buhler of 44 Scott Lane was among the 240 candidates for bachelor of arts degrees at Whitman College commencement exercises in Walla Walla, Wash.

Milton Babbitt, William Shubael Conant Professor of Music, was awarded the George Peabody Medal "for outstanding contributions to Music in America" at the commencement ceremonies of the Peabody Institute of the Johns Hopkins University.

Mr. Babbitt also gave the commencement address.

Navy Midshipman Stuart J. Borsch, son of Frederick H. and Barbara S. Borsch of 17 Ivy Lane, was selected for both the Superintendent's and Dean's List at the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

The Dean's List recognizes midshipmen who have excelled in academic studies, while the Superintendent's List recognizes both academic achievement and the professional training required.

Airman Donald B. Harms, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy A. Harms of Route 518, Hopewell, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force course for missile facilities specialist at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill.

Airman Harms will now serve at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D., with the 44th Organizational Missile Maintenance Squadron. He is a 1982 graduate of Hopewell Valley High School.

George A. Berman, 118 Cedar Lane, addressed the spring meeting of the Columbia Law School Association of New Jersey at the Nassau Inn. Professor of law at the Nassau University School of Law, he spoke on "Recent Developments in the Liability of Public Officials."

"The Land and People of Indonesia" by Datus C. Smith Jr. has been published by Lipincott Junior Books.

A resident of Princeton, Mr. Smith is known in Asia, Africa and the Middle East as an ambassador of books. For 15 years he was president of Franklin Book Programs, a nonprofit organization through which millions of American books have been translated into various languages. Mr. Smith is a trustee of The Asia Society and has been president of the U.S. Board on Books for Young People.

Illustrated with black and white photos and a full map, the revised edition of "The Land and People of Indonesia" describes this "archipelago country," a vast cluster of more than 13,500 islands of which more than 6,000 are inhabited. Along with a survey of Indonesia's rich cultural background and history, the book discusses the nation's present government and economy and its outlook for the future.

L. Scott Bailey, president and publisher of the Princeton Publishing Co. and a Princeton resident, has cooperated with the family of the late Professor W.E. Smith of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, in establishing a professorship in American economic life in the professor's name at the University. Mr. Bailey was a former student of Dr. Smith's and a 1947 graduate of Miami University.

Carl Reimers, son of Carl Reimers of Princeton and Jane Irwin of New York, has been selected to receive an award at an honors convocation at Macalester College, Saint Paul, Minn.

Alfred Vuocolo of Rocky Hill has been appointed chief executive officer of the New Jersey Forensic Psychiatric Facility. He will be responsible for administering programs for some 125 forensic patients in the institution and for supervising the development of the new forensic unit.

The N.J. Forensic Psychiatric Hospital was formerly a section of Trenton Psychiatric Hospital until legislation enacted in 1982 made it a separate entity. The new hospital was formerly known as the forensic section of the Vroom Building.

Dr. Vuocolo most recently served as superintendent of the Skillman Training School for Boys and had been in that post since 1966. Prior to that he held several positions in the Department of Institutions and Agencies, beginning in 1950 when he worked at what was known as the Menlo Park Diagnostic Center.

He holds a master of social work degree in psychiatric casework from Fordham University and a doctorate in agency management and institutional administration from the New York University Graduate School of Public Administration in New York City.

Samantha Phillips, daughter of Jeanne and Ralph Phillips of Monroe Lane, was awarded a varsity letter as a member of the Haverford College women's lacrosse team. She is a graduate of Princeton High School where she was a National Merit Scholarship Semi-finalist.

Also at Haverford, Rebecca Popenoe, daughter of David and Katherine Popenoe of Moore Street, was awarded the Most Improved Player for the second consecutive season on the women's tennis team. She had a 4-2 record as Haverford's number five singles player. A sophomore and a graduate of Princeton High School, she lived in Indonesia for a year before enrolling at Haverford.

Three Princeton residents have been named to the Dean's List at Bates College as a result of their scholastic standing during the second semester of the 1982-83 college year.

They are Brenna L. Flaucher '83, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald L. Flaucher of 434 Mt. Lucas Road; Rachel A. Rabinowitz '84, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Irving Rabinowitz of 5 Glenview Drive; and Elena A. Williams '84, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Williams of Wheat-sheaf Lane.

Dana L. Donati has been selected as a candidate for the doctoral degree offered by Rutgers University's Department of Counseling and Psychology.

Mrs. Donati received her B.A. from Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, N.Y., and spent one year as a guest student at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass. She holds a master's degree in psychology from Temple University, and is a certified school psychologist in both Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Currently, she is employed as a psychologist at Princeton High School, where she is a member of the Child Study Team.

She is also a member of The American Psychological Association and New Jersey Association of School Psychologists. Mrs. Donati and her husband, an attorney, live on Hawthorne Avenue.

Johanna R. Froehlich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karlfried Froehlich of Moore Street and a junior classical languages major at Carleton College in Northfield, Minn., has been named to the Dean's List. The top ten percent of the student body was recognized at an Honors Convocation in May.

Alan Y. Medvin of 165 Bertrand Drive, a partner in the Newark law firm of Medvin & Elberg, was a member of the medical malpractice panel of the May 1983 Case Evaluation Clinic sponsored by ATLA-NJ, the New Jersey Affiliate of the Association of Trial Lawyers of America.

Mr. Medvin is first vice president of ATLA-NJ and has chaired three of the Association's educational programs on the practice of trial law.

Stephen J. Pallrand, son of Kay Trotter, 139 Cedar Lane, and George Pallrand of Lambertville, had a combined major in art history and studio art and was a four-year member of the varsity lacrosse team of which he was captain his senior year. A 1979 graduate of Princeton High School, he will pursue a graduate degree in the independent study program in studio art at the Whitney Museum of American Art.

Delia G. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Smith, 673 Prospect Avenue, received an A.B. degree in special education during commencement at Guilford College, Greensboro, N.C. A Dana Scholar, she is a member of the Guilford College Scholarship Society.

Graduating from Bryn Mawr College, Constance S. Haynes received a master of social service degree and Gail E. Gilvarg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilvarg of Hartley Avenue, earned a bachelor of arts degree in anthropology.

Laura J. Peck, daughter of Marjorie M. Peck of 31 Humbert Street, and F. Robert Sidon II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Sidon of 74 Allison Road, have received the bachelor of arts degree at Grinnell College commencement exercises. Both majored in history. Miss Peck is a graduate of Princeton High School, Mr. Sidon of The Lawrenceville School.

Bachelor of arts degrees were conferred upon two area residents during Vassar College's 119th commencement. They are Matthew W. Kaufman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellwood Kauffman of 148 Library Place and a graduate of Princeton High School who majored in political science, and Mathieu D. Roberts, a graduate of Princeton Day School and a biology major.

Catherine White, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John J. White Jr. of 22 Westley Road, has graduated from Smith College with an A.B. degree in economics. A 1979 graduate of Princeton Day School, she majored in economics.

Caroline W. Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sherman of 55 Battle Road, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree at Bowdoin College's 178th commencement exercises. A graduate of Princeton Day School, she held a double major in German and anthropology/sociology at Bowdoin. She earned two varsity letters and junior varsity numerals as a member of the soccer team, which won two consecutive NIAC Division III championships while she played.

Tancredi De Grazia of Princeton received a bachelor of arts degree from Bard College and a bachelor of science in electrical engineering from Columbia University. Bard, located in Annandale-on-Hudson, N.Y., and Columbia have an affiliated engineering degree program in which a student may attend Bard for two years and Columbia for two years to complete degree requirements.

Two area residents have received bachelor of arts degrees from Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio. Kathryn G. Sears, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen W. Sears of 45 Greenway Terrace, had a double major in East Asian studies and French. She is a 1979 graduate of Hinsdale High School, Hinsdale, Ill.

Stephen J. Pallrand, son of Kay Trotter, 139 Cedar Lane, and George Pallrand of Lambertville, had a combined major in art history and studio art and was a four-year member of the varsity lacrosse team of which he was captain his senior year. A 1979 graduate of Princeton High School, he will pursue a graduate degree in the independent study program in studio art at the Whitney Museum of American Art.

Delia G. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Smith, 673 Prospect Avenue, received an A.B. degree in special education during commencement at Guilford College, Greensboro, N.C. A Dana Scholar, she is a member of the Guilford College Scholarship Society.

Graduating from Bryn Mawr College, Constance S. Haynes received a master of social service degree and Gail E. Gilvarg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilvarg of Hartley Avenue, earned a bachelor of arts degree in anthropology.

Jennifer Flaucher, daughter of Ronald and Janice Flaucher of Mt. Lucas Road, has received a bachelor of arts degree in psychology from Bard College.

Judith E. Wolfson, daughter of Ruth and Martin Wolfson of Bertrand Drive, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree at Colgate University's 162nd commencement. A 1979 graduate of Princeton High School, she concentrated in political science at Colgate.

Her undergraduate activities included membership in the Pi Sigma Alpha national political science honor society and women's varsity swim team. During her junior year she spent a semester abroad studying in Florence, Italy.

Robert G. Schwartz of Princeton has been named a Distinguished Alumni of Penn State for 1983.

The Distinguished Alumni Award was established in 1951 and is the highest recognition bestowed on an individual by the University. It equals the honorary doctorate given by many institutions.

Mr. Schwartz is chairman of the board of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Prof. English Showalter, Jr., of Camden College, Rutgers University, has been appointed Executive Director of the Modern Language Association of America effective September 1. He lives at 119 Snowden Lane.

Prof. Showalter, 48, is professor and chair of the French Department at Camden College. He was born in Roanoke, Va., and took his undergraduate and graduate degrees at Yale University. A member of the faculty at Rutgers since 1974, he has taught at Yale and Haverford Colleges as well as at the University of California at Davis and Princeton University.

His specialty is eighteenth-century French literature. He has published "The Evolution of the French Novel, 1641-1782" and other works on the 18th century, and he has a book forthcoming on Camus, Mich. The team returned with a Guggenheim Fellowship. Prof. Showalter is working on an edition of the complete correspondence of Madame de Graffigny; the first volume is to be published this year. As an in-the-air navigation executive director, he will edit PMLA and other MLA publications.

Chris Ragoanath, son of Bob and Dulcie Ragoanath of 98 Leigh Avenue, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of airman first class.

Airman Ragoanath is an air traffic control specialist at Dover Air Force Base, Del., with the 2016th Communications Squadron. He is a 1981 graduate of Princeton High School.

Airman 1st Class Stanley L. Sibert, Jr., son of Stanley L. Sibert Sr. of 1 Mill Road, and Rita E. Warren of 707 Millside Drive, both of Princeton Junction, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force freight specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

Airman Sibert will now serve at Sembach Air Base, West Germany, with the 601st Transportation Division. He is a 1982 graduate of Trenton State College.

Marc D. McDonald, son of Audrey McDonald of Trenton and James McDonald of Princeton, has been awarded the Helen Loveland Morris Prize for excellence in music at Honors Day ceremonies at Trinity College.

A 1979 graduate of Princeton High School, he is a senior at Trinity where he is majoring in English. He is a member of the Trinity Stage Band as well as the Hart School of Music Jazz Band and a band known as "Conn-fusion." He has also been a disc jockey at the college radio station.

June 26 through July 29. The New Jersey Scholars Program, which is funded by the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation, chooses outstanding high school juniors from throughout the state of New Jersey to take part in its annual summer interdisciplinary academic enrichment program. Candidates for the program are nominated by their schools and are chosen on a competitive basis by a selection committee made up of educators drawn from public and independent secondary schools and universities from the New Jersey area. The topic of this summer's program will be Russian Studies.

Andrea is a high honors student at Princeton High School, where she is managing editor of the student newspaper, and assistant editor of the school's literary magazine. She is vice-president of the French Club and takes a very active part on the debate and forensics team. Outside of school Andrea sings with the fellowship and youth choir at the Nassau Presbyterian Church. She has taken piano lessons for seven years.

Pete Toto of Linden Lane is a member of the aviation team from Mercer County Community College that participated in the National Intercollegiate Flying Association Tournament in Battle Creek, Mich. The team returned with a first-place trophy and other awards.

Pete placed in the top fifth in the top third of 81 contestants in an in-the-air navigation event with another team member, and placed in the top half of contestants in a power-off landing event, which, because of gusting winds, was never completed.

Vicky Adler, age 13, of 9 Veblen Circle received third place in the Cricket League international poetry competition and honorable mention in the drawing competition sponsored by Cricket magazine. Her poem appears in the June issue of the magazine.

Marc D. McDonald, son of Audrey McDonald of Trenton and James McDonald of Princeton, has been awarded the Helen Loveland Morris Prize for excellence in music at Honors Day ceremonies at Trinity College.

A 1979 graduate of Princeton High School, he is a senior at Trinity where he is majoring in English. He is a member of the Trinity Stage Band as well as the Hart School of Music Jazz Band and a band known as "Conn-fusion." He has also been a disc jockey at the college radio station.

John T. O'Neill III, son of John and Jacqueline O'Neill of Heather Lane, is one of eight winners of the Twelfth USA Mathematical Olympiad in a competition involving more than 400,000 U.S. and Canadian high school students. He is a student at The Lawrenceville School.

The Olympiad winners are the top performers on the 12th USAMO examination, said to be one of the most difficult mathematical challenges given to high school students anywhere. It consists of five problems whose solutions require great ingenuity as well as broad mathematical knowledge.

Mr. O'Neill and the other winners will be honored on June 7 at an awards ceremony and dinner to be held at the National Academy of Sciences and the U.S. Department of State Diplomatic Reception Rooms.

William A. Williams, 35 Springwood Drive, Lawrenceville, was among the University of Wisconsin-Madison seniors invited to this spring's Honor Convocation based on class standing or honors program enrollment. He is a molecular biology major.

70. COUNT 'EM, 70
New Chamber Members. During May, which was "Chamber Month," the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area garnered 70 new members, with Rosalee Alexander, of Fox & Lazo Realtors, winning the prize for signing up 17.

She beat the 14-member record of Membership Chairman Martin P. Lombardo, who presented her with a scholarship to his Tom Hopkins' Training Center course, "How to Master the Art of Selling." Her first prize was a week-end for two at Scaticton.

Three Chamber members came in second with four newcomers. The three are C. Ellen Hodges, the Chamber's executive director; Gail Eagle, of Community Pride Publications and Harry Cooke, RCA. Paul Chesebro of William Sword & Company and Lee Hill, Princeton University, each brought in three. Four signed up two new members. The four are June Mahon, administrative assistant, and Teri Veltre, secretary — their affiliations are not known — Mickie Mason, Selective Personnel and William Portrude of Express Press.

Those who signed two or more new members received gift certificates redeemable at any of 24 participating stores.

FOR OLDER WOMEN

In Second Career. Scholarships for mature second-career women are available from the Rider College School for Continuing Studies through a grant from the Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation.

Women applying must be at least 25 years old, matriculated in a baccalaureate program and at least half way through work toward the degree. Scholarships are awarded on the basis of how clear a woman's career goals are, her academic record and the extent of her need.

Last year, 33 scholarships were awarded. Some recipients were studying full time, others part time. They were homemakers preparing for jobs, or employed and looking for a new direction.

Details may be obtained from the School for Continuing Studies office, 896-5033.

Every room starts with a beautiful idea, like Andersen® Perma-Shield® angle bay or bow windows. They can make more of a beautiful view. And make less of your energy bill and maintenance chores.

Just look at all these Andersen features:

- Snug-fitting design. Two times more weather-tight than windows which only meet minimum industry air-infiltration standards.
- Energy-saving double-pane insulating glass. Almost two times more efficient than old-fashioned single-pane glass without storm.
- Optional triple glazing system. A third pane of extra insulation and comfort.
- Insulating wood core.
- Low-maintenance rigid vinyl exterior.

OBITUARIES

Leland H. Ross, 75, of Elm Road, died May 31 at Princeton Medical Center.

Mr. Ross was born in Newark and lived most of his life in New Vernon before moving to Princeton recently. He was a retired self-employed stockbroker.

He was a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy in Exeter, N.H., and Princeton University, Class of 1930. He was a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Navy during World War II and a member of the Morris County Golf Club and the Morristown Men's Club.

Survivors include his wife, Eleanor Gillespie Ross; two sons, Hamilton Ross of Princeton and John G. Ross of Bernardsville; a brother, Edmund B. Ross of Basking Ridge; a sister, Parthenia Gibson of Greenwood, Va.; and seven grandchildren.

A graveside service was held in New Vernon Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

The Rev. Msgr. William A. Margerum, S.T.D., 78, died June 6 in the Skilled Nursing Unit of Morris Hall. Born in Princeton, he was a 1920 graduate of St. Charles College, Catonsville, Md., and a 1924 graduate of Seminary Collegio Americano del Nord, Rome Italy. He was ordained in 1929 at the Church of San Giovanni in Laterano, Rome, by Basilio Cardinal Pompili.

In 1930 he was associate pastor of St. Rose of Lima Church, Freehold, and from there was made associate pastor at St. Mary's Church in Perth Amboy. In 1933 he received a special assignment to Rome and Trenton for further studies to obtain his doctorate in sacred theology. He served successively as pastor of St. Paul's in Burlington, Our Lady of Lourdes in Milltown, and St. Magdalene Church in Flemington.

In 1941 he was appointed Censor Librorum of the diocese and in 1950 was moderator of the diocesan clergy conferences. Msgr. Margerum retired in 1969 to Princeton before going to Morris Hall.

Son of the late Stephen W. and Alice C. Van Marter Margerum, he is survived by four brothers, Stephen C. of Princeton, Edward J. of Trenton, Eugene H. of Lawrenceville, and Walter T. of El Cajon, Calif.; and two sisters, Alice C. and Theresa M. both of Lawrenceville.

The Most Rev. John C. Reiss, Bishop of Trenton, will be the principle celebrant of a concelebrated Mass Thursday at 10:30 at St. Paul's Church. Msgr. Margerum will lie in state in St. Paul's Church Thursday from 9 until time of the Mass. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Friends may call this Wednesday from 7 to 9 at the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, 46 Vandewater Avenue. Contributions may be made to the Morris Hall Home for the Aged, Box 82, 2381 Lawrenceville Road, Lawrenceville, 06640, or to St. Magdalene Church, Flemington, 0882.

Grace N. Fowler, 89, formerly of Parkway Avenue, Plainsboro, died June 2 at the Lawrenceville Nursing Home. Mrs. Fowler was born in Quebec, Canada, and had lived in Plainsboro since 1931. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro.

Wife of the late Oscar W. Fowler, she is survived by a son, Glenn O. Fowler of Princeton Junction; a daughter, Mrs. Elsie F. Probasco of Cream Ridge; 10 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

The service was held at a Cranbury funeral home, the Rev. Robert L. Slusher, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Plainsboro, officiating. Burial was in Cream Ridge Cemetery. Contributions may be made to the Plainsboro Rescue Squad, Plainsboro 08536, or to the American Cancer Society, 88 Lakewood Drive, Trenton, 08646.

Wilford Crutchfield Jr., 56, of James Street, Lawrenceville, died May 29 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center. Mr. Crutchfield was born in Lawrenceville and was a lifelong area resident. He was an employee of the Lawrenceville Fuel Co. and a member of the Union Baptist Church, Trenton, the senior usher board and the trustee board of the church.

Surviving are a son, James Crutchfield of Houston, Texas, and several cousins.

The service was held at the Union Baptist Church, Trenton, the Rev. L. Earl Tolbert, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Ewing Cemetery.

Margot C. Henschel, 87, of Pennington, died June 3 in Hunterdon Medical Center. Born in Bromberg, Germany, she had lived in Daytona Beach, Fla., and Scotch Plains before moving to Pennington seven years ago. She was a member of the First United Methodist Church of Pennington and the Martha Circle of the church.

Wife of the late Oscar J. Henschel, she is survived by a son, Frank O. Henschel of Pennington; two granddaughters, Linda Paulin of Norristown, Pa., and Holly Golinza, Pa., and had lived in Turner of Hancock, N.H.; two grandsons, David Henschel of Camp Hill, Pa., and Dr. Douglas Henschel of Shellington, Pa., and six great-grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held on Friday at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, 60 South Main Street, Pennington, with the Rev. James H. Biggs, pastor, officiating. Contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 88 Lakewood Drive, Trenton, or the Memorial Fund for the Old Princeton United Methodist Cemetery, c/o the First Church, Corson Memorial United Methodist Church, Pennington.

RELIGION

GOSPEL CONCERT SET

All Saints' Church, All Saints' Road, will hold a service of Confirmation with Holy Eucharist on Sunday at 10. The retired Bishop of Cuba, the Rt. Rev. Jose Augustin Gonzalez, will preside. He led the Episcopal Church in Cuba for many years in trying circumstances, and is now assisting Diocesan Bishop Mellick Belshaw with the visiting schedule.

Nine adults and 11 children are to be confirmed by Bishop Gonzalez, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Smith. Tickets are $18 and may be reserved by writing Dorothy Alexander, P.O. Box 216, Princeton.

In 1965 he experienced a dramatic turn-around in his life, and ever since he has been sharing with audiences the triumph he feels Christ made in his life. All ages and denominations are welcome to the concert Sunday, which will be held at Nassau Christian Center, Nassau and Chamber Streets, at 6:30 Sunday if it rains.

For more information call the Rev. Jesse Owens at 921-0981 or 452-2828.

DINNER PLANNED

To Honor Pastor. In celebration of the 20 years of ministry of the Rev. Edward Smith as pastor of First Baptist Church, a dinner has been planned for Saturday, June 25, at Princeton Theological Seminary. Congressman William Grey of Philadelphia will be the speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Smith began his ministry in his native Virginia and combined pastoring churches with teaching and serving as principal at local black elementary, junior high and high schools. He was called to First Baptist in 1963 and has served during a period of expansion of the church building and change in the neighborhood its serves. The public is invited to the Mercer Medical Center.

Born in New York City, he had lived in Lawrenceville for 21 years. He retired in 1975 as the advertising manager for the American Cyanamid Company.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Wagner Cappy; a son, Frank M. of Boston, Mass.; and a brother, Raymond F. of Bellerose, Long Island, N.Y.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated in St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church, Lawrence Township. Burial was in St. John's Cemetery, Middle Village, N.Y.

Mary L. Cloak, 92, of Marion Road East, died June 6 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Mrs. Cloak was born in Golinza, Pa., and had lived in Princeton in 1954. She was a former resident of Newcastle, Pa., where she was a charter member of the Women's Club and of the Newcastle United Methodist Church.

Wife of the late Clarence P. Cloak, she is survived by a son, Donald P. Cloak of Pennington, Fla.; a daughter, Fern Cloak of Princeton; and a granddaughter, Nancy Cloak.

A memorial service will be held Thursday at 3 at the Memorial Fund for the Old Princeton United Methodist Cemetery, c/o the First Church, Corson Memorial United Methodist Church, Pennington.

testimonial dinner for the Rev. Mr. Smith. Tickets are $18 and may be reserved by writing Dorothy Alexander, P.O. Box 216, Princeton.

BULLETIN NOTES

All Saints' Church, All Saints' Road, will hold a service of Confirmation with Holy Eucharist on Sunday at 10. The retired Bishop of Cuba, the Rt. Rev. Jose Augustin Gonzalez, will preside. He led the Episcopal Church in Cuba for many years in trying circumstances, and is now assisting Diocesan Bishop Mellick Belshaw with the visiting schedule.

Nine adults and 11 children are to be confirmed by Bishop Gonzalez, assisted by the Rev.

ON YOUR GUARD!
ATTEMPTS HAVE BEEN MADE TO ALTER GOD'S HOLY WORD!
After much concern and prayer, Dr. David Otis Fuller has been invited to speak on the subject "Which Bible?"
Confusion engendered by a multiplicity of Bible versions narrows down to the question: "Which version is nearest to the original manuscripts?"
If the reader believes the Holy Bible to be the verbally, plenary, inspired word of God in the original manuscripts, then of necessity he must believe that God has providentially preserved it through the ages down to the present hour.
"The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand forever." (Isaiah 40:8)
"The words of the Lord are pure words: as silver tried in a furnace of earth, purified seven times." (Psalm 12:6)
There is solid substantial proof that the authorized King James Version - 1611 is tried, true, faithful - God's Holy Word.
Hear Dr. Fuller, Author "Which Bible?" (Now in 9th edition)
Friday, June 10th - 7:30 P.M.
Nassau Inn, The Palmer Room - Lobby Floor, Palmer Square, Princeton
Come praying, looking to God for understanding - expecting a blessing! Time will be provided for question and answer. There will be no charge, nor offering.
Cordially, Friends of Dr. Fuller

Religion in Princeton

A. Orley Swartzentruber, rector.

The Youth Choirs at the Princeton United Methodist will hold its Vacation Bible School June 27-July 1 from 9 to 11 a.m. worship service. 11:30 daily. "Take it to the Lord in Prayer" is the theme of this year's program, which will include worship, Bible study, crafts, music, recreation and refreshments at the piano and members of Students age 3 through 6th grade are welcome.

A charge of $5 a child or $10 from 6 to 18. Members of the public are encouraged to attend. Registration is welcome.

Christian Science churches around the world will share the denomination's annual meeting in June at the Mother Church in Boston through a special video-taped discussion. In Princeton the tape will be shown on Monday at First Church of Christ, Scientist, Bayard Lane.

The hour-long commentary was prepared earlier this year at the denomination's international headquarters. It focuses on the church's wide-ranging efforts to meet the challenges of what it judges to be intensely materialistic times through revitalized commitment to spiritual values and Biblical precepts.

The summer series of chancel services at Princeton University Chapel will begin this Sunday at 10 a.m. when the Rev. Bruce M. Metzger will be guest preacher. His sermon topic will be "The Extravagant Benevolence of God."

The George L. Collord Professor of New Testament Language and Literature at Princeton Theological Seminary, Dr. Metzger is a biblical scholar, the author of 25 books and the editor of the recently published Reader's Digest Condensed Bible. He has served as chairman of the Revised Standard Version Bible Committee and is a Corresponding Fellow of the British Academy.

The Jewish Singles of the Windors will hold a rap session/social on Thursday, June 16, at 8 at Congregation Beth Chaim, Village and Old Trenton Roads, Route 535, West Windsor. The cost is $3 per person and refreshments will be served.

The Consolata Mission on Route 27 in Somerset will hold a Pancake Breakfast on Sunday from 8 to noon. The donation is $3 per person, $1.50 for children under 12. Call 297-9191 for tickets, which will also be available at the door.

Princeton Pax Christi will meet at the home of Elizabeth Schorske, 106 Winant Road, Princeton on Tuesday, June 21, at 8 p.m. For further information call 921-3713 or 452-7529.

New Publication Outlines a 'Grotesque' Tour Of Princeton University's Campus Gargoyles

Gargoyles abound on the triumphant. One theory suggests that they represent demons fleeing the church and frozen in stone as examples to mankind. Others say they kept evil spirits away, or that they represent the fears and superstitions of medieval men.

The creative adornments by architects and stone carvers to buildings erected between 1879 and 1947.

As a companion piece to last year's arboreal tour of the "Trees of Princeton University," the University's Office of Communications and Publications has published "The Gargoyles of Princeton University: a grotesque tour of the campus." Available at for $1, the booklet gives portraits and anecdotal histories of—and suppositions about—14 of these architectural ornaments. Designed as a self-guiding tour which encourages looking up (with binoculars) for a different perspective of the campus, the text was written by Laurel Cantor, a publications editor for the university, who spent hours "stalking the gargoyles" with Hugh DeN Wynne, Princeton Class of 1939, an enthusiastic gargoyle fancier. The booklet is illustrated with drawings of each of the 14 sculptural figures by Heather Lovett, a free-lance artist from Hopewell.

Medieval Art Form. "The word for throat in old French is 'gargouille,'" the tour book notes, "closely related to the words gurggle and gargle, both descriptive of a gargoyle's vocation." True gargoyles are rainpipes that spit rainwater away from a building's foundation. Many of Princeton's sculptures are "grotesques" and "chimeras," purely decorative stone ornaments that preserve some of the medieval themes—fierce animals, solemn scholars, rambunctious students, musical angels, ugly goblins and hungry devils.

Some art historians believe that gargoyles were meant to depict evil spirits over which the Christian church has triumphed. One theory suggests that they represent demons fleeing the church and frozen in stone as examples to mankind. Others say they kept evil spirits away, or that they represent the fears and superstitions of medieval men.

"The Gargoyles of Princeton University" provides a map and detailed directions to a representative sampling of these second and third story personalities. It begins with the "Unseeing Reader," a blindfolded figure holding a book over the east arch of East Pyne, facing Firestone. Notes Ms. Cantor, whose text is every bit as whimsical as the sculptures she is describing, the figure "evokes sympathy from anyone who has ever picked up a book and not understood a word of it."

Another example is a bald-pated Benjamin Franklin clutching a key and a bolt of lightning in the northeast gable of Palmer Physics Laboratory. Palmer was built in 1908, with commemorative figures under each gable. Franklin is there to commemorate the discovery of electricity.

Dinosaurs and Monkeys. Guyot Hall, the tour guide points out, is "a veritable barnyard for gargoyles."

Appropriately, the biology wing on the east end features living species, while the geology wing at the west end is decorated with carvings of extinct animals. In addition to a dinosaur lunging from one roof corner and a wild boar at another, the educational sculptures include a horseshoe crab, rhinoceros, pelican, frog, sea horse, pterodactyl, and eagle.

Monkeys were popular with the architects and stone carvers who built the Princeton University campus. On Patton Hall, there are monkey clowns wearing pointed hats, ruffs, coats with huge buttons and huge pan-talons. One has clasped his hand to face as if he is hooting in laughter. Small monkeys climb all over a grand tiger on is, for instance, the Head of a Football Player, at the southwest end of the Foulke Memorial Dormitory. Very similar in its soulful searching of the skies is the expression on the Head of a Soldier on Henry Hall. Both dormitories were built in 1922 by the same architect.

The inside of Blair Arch features several elaborately carved bosses, ornamental carvings that cover the intersections of two or more stone ribs. They show students and preceptors huddled by piles of books, shaking hands and burning the midnight oil. Over the arch on the side that faces the University Store there is a student leaning against a beer keg, stein at his lips, and a scholar with a skull in hand.

Many at the Graduate College. Not surprisingly, the Graduate College, said to be modelled after Magdalene College at Oxford, is sometimes called "the home of the gargoyles" at Princeton. It is lavishly decorated with dragons, roaring tigers and scholars as well as modern scenes, such as the famous "Joyride," pictured here, and a motorist being stopped by a solemn policeman.

"The Gargoyles of Princeton University" should lift the sights of those who have long enjoyed the campus oblivious to the fanciful creatures in stone looking down on them from above.

MONKEY WITH A CAMERA may be taking pictures of humans below. Or, suggests the new tour guide to grotesques on the campus, he may be playing with technology beyond his understanding and thus symbolic of academic endeavor.

1979 Hall, tweaking its ears, and an ape reading a book over the main entrance to Dillon Gym may be aping a professor holding an open book to the left.

More modern representations tend to be more serious—in fact they are eloquent portraits which should not be called gargoyles at all, except to be included on the tour. There

BOARS HEAD is one of the numerous animal gargoyles appropriately decorating Guyot Hall, Princeton's natural sciences museum and classrooms.

News Of The THEATRES

SHAKESPEARE, ET AL.
In Madison. A season whose highlight will be three-evening presentations of plays based on the War of the Roses will open June 28 in Madison under the banner of the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival.

French farce, a classic British comic revue and an American comedy will round out the Festival season, which concludes December 11.

The War of the Roses will include Shakespeare's "Henry IV", Parts One, Two and Three and "Richard III." The plays have been edited by Paul Barry, Artistic Director of the Festival, into three evenings of repertory entitled "Henry VI," "Edward IV" and "Richard III." Because of the chronology, the Festival suggests that the plays be seen in order, although it is not necessary to purchase tickets for all three.

The plays will be given in nightly rotation as follows: "Henry VI" — June 28 through September 6; "Edward IV" from July 5 through September 9 and "Richard III", July 25 through September 18.

Starting Monday, July 18, the Festival will resume its Monday Night Specials, featuring dance, mime, music and drama.

After the run of the War of the Roses this summer, the Festival will present a French farce, "Let's Get a Divorce," by Victorien Sardou, from September 20 through October 16.

Garson Kanin's "Born Yesterday" will be given from October 18 through November 13 and the season will conclude with the Jonathan Miller-Dudley Moore script for "Beyond the Fringe" which will run from November 15 through December 11.

Ticket information is available by calling 201-377-4487.

"TWELFTH NIGHT"
Open Air. A production by Shakespeare '70 of "Twelfth Night" will open the 20th season of the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing, with performances Thursday, June 16 and subsequent presentations June 17 and 18. The theatre has new landscaping, new seats and new public sanitary facilities, according to management. Paths and entrances have also been paved, for easier access.

Princeton Community Players will stage "Fiddler on the Roof" July 21-23, 28-30, and Backstage Breaks will present "Kiss Me Kate" August 4-6 and 10-13.

To conclude the season, Mercer Musical Theatre will stage "My Fair Lady" on August 18-20, 25-27. Sundays during the season are left free, in case rain dates are needed.

Detailed information is available by writing Washington Crossing Association of New Jersey (WCANJ), P.O. Box 86, Titusville, N.J. 08560.

HERE COMES 'SHOW BOAT'

To Bucks County Playhouse. One of this country's most enduringly popular musical comedies, "Show Boat" will open next Tuesday at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope.

The beloved operetta by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein II, has several memorable songs. "Old Man River," "Only Make Believe," "Why Do I Love You?" and others are woven into a story about high-spirited Magnolia Hawkes, daughter of a riverboat theatre impresario on the Mississippi in the 1880's, and her love affair with Gaylord Ravenal, a handsome drifter addicted to gambling.

"Show Boat" stars Pat Paulsen, who has had a long and varied career, most recently as a stand-up comedian touring college campuses.

"Show Boat" was first produced by Florenz Ziegfeld in 1927 in New York. An adaptation of Edna Ferber's novel, it has continued ever since to be the most popular musical comedy of modern times. It has been made into a movie three times, and given full-scale elaborate stage productions in New York five times. It is found more often than any other show on the schedules of summer-time operetta seasons.

schedule of free events throughout the summer.

Summer Sings will be held every Tuesday evening at 8 p.m., beginning June 21 in the air-conditioned Bristol Chapel on the Westminster Campus. The public is invited to join summer session students in singing a major choral work conducted by a member of the Westminster faculty.

Summer Sings will begin with Schubert's Mass in G and "Miriam's Song of Triumph," conducted by Allen Crowell, the conductor of the Westminster Singers and the Westminster Oratorio Choir, and formerly the conductor of the U.S. Army Chorus. Handel's Messiah will be featured the next week, followed by Mozart's Requiem, Faure's Requiem and Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms." Haydn's Lord Nelson Mass and Mendelssohn's Elijah.

On July 19, for the Lord Nelson Mass, singers will be conducted by Joseph Flummerfelt, the conductor of the Westminster Choir. Dr. Flummerfelt is also chorus master of the New York Philharmonic and the Spoleto Music Festivals. Dr. Ray Robinson, president of Westminster Choir College, will lead the final sing on July 26.

A scholar and musician, Dr. Robinson has been President and professor of music at Westminster since 1969. He will conduct Mendelssohn's Elijah.

In addition to the sings, the Summer Session offers a brass concert, a handbell concert, choral concerts, and recitals almost every night. Students of all ages, from as far away as Taiwan and Australia and 15 other foreign countries enrich their private and professional interests in music by taking music workshops, studying everything from a church music course on Gregorian Chant to a music education course called "Producing Broadway Musicals."

Registration is still open. For more information, call Westminster Summer Session Office at 924-7416.

of several works, including Villa-Lobos "Concerto for Guitar" and been on a number of radio and television broadcasts.

He was the first guitarist to perform at Tanglewood Fromm Festival concerts, under the direction of Gunther Schuller, and he appears regularly as soloist with the Locrian Guitar Trio and the New Arts Chamber Ensemble. Awards to his credit are the Webb National Guitar Competition, Masterworks Music and Art Foundation Young Artist Competition and the Philadelphia Classical Guitar Society Competition. Mr. Trent is on the faculty of Trenton State and Mercer County Colleges.

His performance in Princeton is being given in preparation for his appearance at Guitare Quebec 1983, an International Guitar and Lute Festival to be held in Quebec City, July 9-16. He has been selected as a semi-finalist in the International Guitar Competitions which is being sponsored by the Festival, the Guitar Foundation of America, D'Addario Strings and the Canadian Council.

Other Conservatory faculty members who will be performing this summer are Hilary Rosenblum and Victoria Griswold, pianists. For further information about these and other Conservatory events call 924-0855.

WEEK OF INSTRUCTION

For String Players, Westminster Choir College's Conservatory Division is planning an intensive week of instruction for string players of all ages and abilities June 20-24.

The emphasis will be on the ensemble experience, with students receiving coaching in chamber music and orchestral playing. Other activities will include classes in solo repertoire, music reading, ear training, and movement. Performances by staff and students are planned for each day.

Members of the Westminster Conservatory faculty who will be teaching during the week are Dorothy Barrett, violin; Daria Kuyk, violin; Suzanne Mead, cello; Margaret Montanye, violin; Junko Ota, violin; Esther Seligmann, movement; Mary Anne

News Of Clubs and Organizations

The Princeton Recreation "Astrophotography Technical" Department will sponsor a "ques." trip for senior citizens to Waterloo Village, a 19th Century Club of Princeton hamlet, on July 13. The cost of the day trip is $10. Youth oriented programs this interested persons should call spring. Recipients include the Recreation Office at 921 Westminister Choir College, Corner House, the Princeton High School Music Department, YMCA Midget Baseball League, and the Princeton National Bank of Central Jersey in Rocky Hill.

The guest lecturer will be John Marchesella, New York dentist exchange programs, and astrologer, whose topic will be "Saturn: Meeting Place of Jupiter and Uranus." Mr. Marchesella will illuminate the "shadow," a concept of Jungian psychology, and also show how Saturnian has limitations need not have negative connotations. A social hour will follow, and the public is welcome.

The Senior Citizens Club will meet on Monday at 1:30 at the Chestnut Street Fire House. The speaker will be Maria Reading, consumer advisor with the Public Service Electric & Gas Co., who will present a slide lecture entitled "New Jersey: Our abundant Heritage." The slides will illustrate a tour of New Jersey's many historic sights and will explore customs, lifestyles and foods throughout three centuries.

There will be no meeting of the Princeton Senior Citizens Club on Friday, June 24.

The Amateur Astronomers Association (AAAP) will meet Tuesday at 7:30 in Peyton Hall on the Princeton University campus. Richard Peery, assistant curator of the New Jersey State Planetarium, and Roxanne Peery, former director of the AAAP, will speak about observing the summer skies and about

HEALTH FOOD SHOP OPENS
On Nassau Street. Just in time for reunions a new shop opened on 126 Nassau Street which will be frequented by residents of all ages and students who are keenly aware of how beneficial the right foods and vitamins can be for their bodies.
Princeton Health Foods' young owner, Mr. Jeffrey Hirschfeld, and his manager, Mr. Nick Sebasto collectively have many years of experience in the health food business and feel that they have fulfilled a need in town which was previously not met.

"The whole orientation of this shop is tailored to meet the customer's needs. We are not going to let someone just wander in and out without asking if we can be of service. Service, quality and convenience is what we are featuring here," explains Mr. Hirschfeld who is also an art critic.

If the present bustle in the new shop since it opened last Friday is any indication, it will enjoy a full measure of success. Many customers were overheard thanking Mr. Hirschfeld for opening the store which sells top quality health food products, vitamins, and the purest

NEW HEALTH FOOD STORE: Healthy people in the know will be delighted that Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Hirschfeld, at right, seen here with their new daughter, Aviva, and manager Mr. Nick Sebasto have opened Princeton Health Foods at 126 Nassau Street. The shop features the finest and purest health food products and vitamins available in the area combined with high quality service and convenience.

cosmetics available on the your June receipts and you market. Items desired which will be credited on a percentage basis for future purchases. Healthy people will soon know where to go. Hours are from 10 to 9 Monday through Friday, from 10 to 6 on Saturdays and from 11 to 5 on Sunday.

Experienced in Field. The owner and Mr. Sebasto know their products well, the latter having managed a similar store on Fifth Avenue in New York for several years. Products by Rich Life, Plus, Schiff, Synergy, and Solgar are among the companies represented here as well as little-known manufacturers which make the purest of products such as Essential Organics. This small manufacturer from New Hampshire spends no money on marketing or advertising, operates at one third of full capacity in order to insure the best quality control. These products are void of synthetics and include complete disclosure labels which can often be misleading on other products according to Mr. Sebasto.

A small company from Tampa, Fla., Aubrey, has produced a line of cosmetics which are so pure that they can be eaten, though it is not encouraged! The cleansers, lotions, powders, shampoos, deodorants, colognes and perfumes are made up weekly and have a shelf-life of only nine months before the company insists that they be returned if not sold.

Princeton residents are becoming increasingly aware of the fact that foods which include large amounts of sodium, sugar and preservatives can be harmful to themselves and their children which is why the new shop is chock full of delicious snacks, preserves, breads, and non-allergic substitute milk products, herbs, and honeys for sweeteners. The raw, unfiltered honey found here comes in blueberry, alfalfa, clover, and orange flavors. Sorrell Ridge preserves are sweetened with natural honey and taste better than other preserves, according to the shop's owner.

A full line of Health Valley foodstuffs from California is on the shelves including cookies, cereal, pasta, and unsalted chips. "Mad Munchies" snacks with carob, raisins, sesame, nuts, and even pumpkin seeds will solve the hors d'oeuvres dilemma.

Parents will be delighted to know that their youngsters can now ride into town for a healthy snack such as a carob lollipop or Solben candies which have no artificial flavoring or salicylates. 100 percent natural peanut butter is a bargain at $1.59 a pound. Princeton Health Foods has a free merchandise credit program to offer its patrons. Save

Prince, Head, Dunlop, and Manta. The traditionalist will still find the smaller racquet at this shop as well as the full line of the new mid and larger sized racquets which have become so desirable.

"I am very particular about the vendors with whom we deal. I am trying to offer the best quality at the fairest prices possible," explains Mr. Lanoue whose small shop is growing from the base established by the previous owner. Surely the shop's ideal location has encouraged many an ice cream devotee and grocery shopper to come in and browse. They will find a wide assortment of fine shoes for tennis and running, tennis clothing for men and women, and a smaller section for the running and aerobic gear.

Do not assume that because of limited space for display that the Competitive Sport's selection is in any way limited. On the contrary, choices in clothing and in racquets is vast. What is not in stock may be ordered within a few days. Mr. Lanoue, along with his two sons, Mark and Gregory, have every intention of serving Princeton's sports community well. Several teams, including some from the University, are now using the shop to gear up. Mark Lanoue can often be seen on the shop's quaint balcony stringing racquets which are new or in need of repair.

RACQUET SPORT CENTER: Mr. Ed Lanoue, new owner of The Competitive Sport, and his son Mark, will feature the finest gear for tennis and squash in the small shop, which is full of a wide selection of shoes, clothing, and racquets for those sports which are a favorite pastime here in town.

Reasonable Prices. "This is a nice town, the people are so friendly and welcoming and the runners are an inspiration," says Mr. Lanoue who commutes here from Far Hills. He spent 25 years working in the corporate world until he decided it was time for a change. Thus far, he has enjoyed quite a bit of success in Princeton, which may have a lot to do with his reasonable prices. Why haunt the discount stores when similar products are available right here?

The Lanoues have not left expertise in the racquet field solely up to their personal preferences but have initiated a "Meet the Expert" promotion for the four Saturdays of this month. Last weekend, one of the busiest for the town's merchants, the Competitive Sport invited Mr. Enoch Durbin, a professor of mechanical and aerospace engineering at the University, to discuss the new tennis racquet which he designed for Princeton Sports Products. A curious crowd gathered to hear why his unique elongated racquet head has a better return, vibration free. Mr. Durbin has relocated "the sweet spot" to the middle of the racquet — which is of course trimmed in orange and black.

Other representatives of major racquet manufacturers will be seen at the shop on the next three Saturdays when refreshments will be served.

What could be a more appropriate gift for Father's Day than a new (modern) tennis racquet or a fresh new pair of tennis whites from the Competitive Sport? Now that the worst of spring home improvement chores are over, Father can concentrate on his game and could use some new equipment which may include: a tennis bag, a tennis ball caddy, shorts, sweaters, shirts (plain or with stripes), bands for the wrist and head, or several cans of new tennis balls (how do they all disappear).

The shop will have a Father's Day special next week, discounting men's clothing and shoes so now is the time to buy and save. Clothing by Fred Perry, Boast, Quantum to mention a few are bound to please the graduate as well as "dear old Dad." A large selection of Boast shirts are now in stock in several different color combinations and stripes.

ART In Princeton

RADICAL PAINTINGS
At Gallery of Fine Art. Tradition, once thought of as long established custom, takes a different form in the world of contemporary art. Because style and supporting ideology have changed so rapidly during the past fifty years, concepts that are considered traditional may, in fact, be only a few decades old. In today's art world, the past is not far away.

As a result, it comes as no surprise when essentially radical work like the paintings of Donald Locallo, on display at the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, is thought to be a blend of traditional elements. Despite the fact that owner Gary Snyder considers Locallo's work to be among the more advanced art that has been exhibited in the gallery, even the artist's own statement includes reference to earlier forms.

In a description of his work Locallo says, "My painting has evolved by incorporating tradition — my own traditional values and the traditional emotions as portrayed by all the master painters. Indeed, ghosts of recent masters can be found in the artist's work. The amalgam of elements of abstract expressionism, da-da and even a hint of the surreal, include visual references to the work of many of the better known painters who employed or invented these expressive and one-time radical modes.

TRENTON AS AN ART FORM: "Eyes on Trenton," a group display of work by Mercer County artists at the Gallery at Western Electric, create a multi-faceted portrait of the capital city. Among the featured works are J & K Place, a pencil drawing by Jack Prynosi.

Locallo's paintings are considered reflective of the return of the painterly style. That is, they are thought to embody many of the characteristics of abstract expressionism as it was in the fifties. There is a heavily modeled surface, surface energy that is the result of the "painterly" approach, and an assumption that the process, itself, is as important as the result.

The artist describes his work as "... bold vignette(s) in color, evoking love and hate, peace and turmoil, isolation and confidence ... moods and energies of life using color and shapes to mold the feelings and dramatic changes that occur." These feelings are expressed using a combination of ragged line, pieces of color and shapes within shapes, all of which are, finally, enclosed within a roughly painted rectangle which contains the painting's often undisciplined energy.

The symbols are, of course, personal. And, presumably, if you speak the language of the artist, the emotions and messages are there. On the other hand, for those who are not on Locallo's artistic wavelength, the work remains interesting as a combination of young traditions that seem to be strong enough and pervasive enough to respond to contemporary artistic need and, in the process, to survive.

Views of Trenton. If you have never considered Trenton as an art form, the exhibition "Eyes on Trenton" at the Gallery at Western Electric, will come as a surprise. The mixed media group show includes more than fifty views of Trenton by as many artists and a few poets, as well. In addition to a varied visual approach to the aging city, several poems, silk-screened on plexiglas, introduce a quite different perspective.

The exhibition began as a month-long festival of the arts in Trenton that was meant to reflect the diverse character of the city. The current collection, which is a traveling exhibition, was culled from the original display. Included are sculpture, painting, photography and poetry by Mercer County artists, all members of the Trenton Artists Workshop Association.

According to Mary Yess, current President of the Association, and one of the exhibition artists, Trenton offers a substantial variety of potential subjects for the artist. She states that in the collection "the usual and the obvious have found their representation: buildings ... topographical landscapes ... faces ... postures ... interiors." She goes on to say that Trenton is witnessing the beginnings of a renaissance for which "Eyes on Trenton" serves as a point of departure.

Although the renaissance is not immediately apparent, the intrinsic beauty of the old city is reflected in many of the included works. Drawings, paintings and photographs capture the charm and sense of the past that still remains in New Jersey's capital.

a substantial number of representational works. Buildings, neighborhoods, and people are shown as they really are and as the artist sees them. There is stylistic range in the display and, in addition to the more literal views, there are interpretive works and some that are, in essence, abstractions.

The collection captures such familiar sights as the bridge with its famous sign, Oarsmen, the backyards, the armory, South Broad Street and the monument as well as selected street corners and the capitol building. There are also glimpses into Trenton's history in "Shades of the Hermitage." The oil painting by Peggy Gummere depicts one of the city's most important older houses surrounded by many of the famous characters who have passed through Trenton during the last three hundred years. The illustrious crowd, gathered on the lawn, includes such notables as George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Hessian soldiers, Joseph Bonaparte, the Washington Roebling and other visitors who have kept their eyes on Trenton over the years.

TO NATIONAL GALLERY
And Whitney Collection. The Princeton Art Association is sponsoring a bus trip to Washington on Thursday, June 16, to see the 19th and 20th century paintings in the Whitney Collection, including a Manet never before exhibited to the public and a group of Fauve paintings described by the PAA as "unsurpassed."

The bus will leave the Princeton Shopping Center at 7 a.m., arriving in Washington around 11, and will return to Princeton between 9:30 and 10 p.m. The fee, $22 for non-members and $20 for members, includes bus fare, tips, guided tour and snacks.

The collection, by the late John Hay Whitney and his wife, Betsy Cushing Whitney, includes Manet's pastel "Woman in a Decollete Gown," never shown publicly until this exhibit at the National Gallery.

Also at the Gallery in the Whitney group are works by Degas, Renoir, Monet, Pissarro, Corot and Courbet. The collection includes Cezanne's "Still Life with Apples, Pears and a Gray Jug," his "Route Tournaie a Montgeroult" — a late landscape — van Gogh's "Self Portrait" and Seurat's "The Island of La Grande Jatte."

PHOTOS, PRINTS
By Dunham, De Neve. Photographs by Tom Dunham and prints by Hanneke De Neve will be on display in the Art People Place, Witherspoon Street, from June 16 through July 10.

A commercial and portrait photographer, Mr. Dunham will be exhibiting prints reflecting his private side. The landscapes and suburban scenes have been made during the past three years for a personal project, "America in the Fourth Quarter."

A native of the Netherlands, Ms. De Neve is an artist who works include paintings, line drawings, monotypes and fiber art.

Figurative Art. More than 25 works in pastel, pencil and encaustics — paintings done in wax — by Jacques Fabert and Bonnie Maclean will be shown at Art Masters of Princeton, 44 Spring, starting this Friday at

SCULPTURE, DRAWINGS
By Jonathan Shahn. After ten years working and teaching in Rome, sculptor Jonathan Shahn has returned to Roosevelt, where he spent his childhood, and an exhibit of his sculpture and drawings is now on view at Handworks, 23 Homestead Lane, Roosevelt. It will remain through June 19. Hours are 10 to 5 daily.

Shahn's subject is the human form, and critics have described his treatment of it as "classic and contemporary, forceful, penetrating, poised and elegant." Mr. Shahn is represented in several collections including those of the Vatican and the National Portrait Gallery in Washington, and his drawings appear frequently in the Wall Street Journal. He also illustrates books and designs stage sets.

He taught sculpture at the Tyler School in Rome, and has also taught at Boston University and the Boston Museum School, Cooper Union and the Sculpture Center in New York. This fall, he will teach at the Maryland Institute, Baltimore.

Parents Without Partners. Inc. Mercer Chapter No. 0128, will sponsor a public orientation meeting on Monday at 8. For place of meeting and directions, call Rich at 882-5039.

The Delaware Valley Poets will meet Thursday, June 16, at 8 at the Mercer County Library in the Lawrence Shopping Center, Route One at Texas Avenue. Ellen Kisthardt of Cream Ridge will lead a discussion of the poetry of Khalil Gibran. This is fifth in a series of "Favorite Poets" to be studied.

Anyone who writes or takes an active interest in poetry is welcome. For information call Rick Ryan at 989-7628 or Pat Whitaker at 259-2773.

Princeton Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons, will hold its annual picnic on Thursday, June 16, at noon at the Shriners Club on River Road. Jenny Jackson, vice president, is in charge of the picnic committee and asks that members bring sufficient food to serve three or four others in addition to themselves. Frank Gripp, deputy director, Department of Corrections, Juvenile Service Division, who is acting superintendent of the Skillman Training School for Boys, will be on hand with 20 boys and several Skillman staff members. The Princeton chapter of AARP collected petitions to the N.J. state legislature and to Governor Kean requesting that the Training School be kept open at a time when lack of funds threatened to close it.

Meetings will not be held in July and August but will resume in September.

Quality, Not Quantity Marks Princeton Football Recruiting

After a recruiting season that Coach Frank Navarro termed "one of the most demanding in my experience," Princeton University has succeeded in attracting 51 or 52—depending on how you count them—football players to the incoming Class of 1987.

Though the quantity of athletes is painfully low for a football program that still struggles to make itself better than average in the Ivy League, the quality of the players, who have elected to attend Princeton, seems to please Navarro. "While the yield in the so-called search areas was somewhat below last year's," Navarro said in a statement to the University's Friends of Football organization, "we did gain quality in linemen, depth in linebackers and defensive ends, and both quantity and quality in quarterbacks."

"I am certain that Princeton will field a representative freshman team next season," the coach said.

One source of the uncertainty in the exact number of players entering the new class could be the case of a defensive tackle from San Pedro, California, which also is illustrates the lengths that Princeton has to go to attract college-caliber players.

The player, Jerry Duhovic, is not listed in the first edition of the Class of '87 football roster, but he is touted by an assistant coach as a potential "welcome addition" to the team. What's the catch? Duhovic apparently would not commit himself until someone from the Friends group pointed him toward a summer job to help him meet the $12,000 a year cost of attending Princeton.

A Broad Search. Another question mark is Mark Hensel, a quarterback who might also help the beleaguered Tiger defensive roster. Hensel's not on the roster but he could still show up, said one assistant coach, "if some financial aid problems can be ironed out."

Navarro and his immediate predecessors have pointed out that Princeton can no longer rely on the traditional and nearby pools of talent in New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania. The net has to be spread far. This year only 18 of the 51 players on the roster hail from those three states.

One of the big catches is from Alabama Center Dave

Sawyer, 6-foot-2, 220 pounds, was recruited by Alabama, Auburn, and Duke, among other scholarship schools, but turned them down for Princeton. Another Alabama player, 6-foot-4 Scott Koski, is one of three recruits who Navarro hopes will create a dog fight at the tight end position.

The coach believes that the new class includes at least three varsity-caliber running backs: Dave Farina, 5-foot-10, 190 pounds, Upper Moreland, Pa.; Dan Papa, 6-0, 170, Yorktown Heights, N.Y.; and Sean Fitzpatrick, 5-10, 160, Westwood, Mass. The biggest dog fight could be at quarterback, where six prospects are listed: Brad Hammond, 6-2, 190, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Steve Lechmanik, 6-0, 182, Emmaus, Pa.; Gary Weisenglass, 6-2, 180, New York City; Sean Welsh, 6-3, 190, Richmond, Indiana; Frank Kontely, 6-1, 195, Canfield, Ohio; and Brian Cassaza, 6-1, 195, Smithtown, N.Y.

Fighting the Ivies. Navarro and his staff outrecruited Yale to gain the services of Chip Nuzzo of Cory, Pa., a wide receiver who has run the 40-yard dash in 4.6 seconds. Another wide receiver, 6-foot-5 Bill Adams of Atlanta, Ga., chose Princeton despite the overtures of Penn and Dartmouth.

Penn and Cornell both recruited Mike Marinko, a running back from Chicago who is considered a top prospect for the Tigers' defensive backfield. But Marinko was persuaded to attend Princeton by Stas Maliszewski, Class of '66, who was a highly persuasive lineman on Princeton's last Lambert Trophy team.

Not all the recruiting battles with other Ivy League teams went Princeton's way. In fact, Navarro was especially concerned with the number of top prospects lost to Yale and Harvard. But, as he pointed out, Harvard and Yale will probably say they are just as discouraged about the players they lost to Princeton.

In other words summer is here, the opening kickoff at Dartmouth does not occur until September 17, and hopes for the new season can still soar to the limit of the imagination. Meanwhile clip this article, stick it away, and read it again in the fall of 1986, when these freshmen begin their senior year. See how many names are still a part of the Princeton football picture.

WOLF & CREW FALTER

At NAAs and IHA. Some of Princeton's biggest athletes, including the track team's shot putter, August Wolf, and the varsity heavyweight crew, ended their seasons and their University careers last weekend with disappointing performances.

Wolf, competing in the NCAA championships in Houston, Texas, managed to place only sixth in the event in which he has been concentrating for the past year. Two Princeton women also competed in Houston. Lynn Jennings placed fourth in the finals of the 3,000 meter run. Sally Anderson finished ninth in the 400 meter hurdles.

The Tiger heavyweight crew had high hopes as it entered the annual IHA regatta on Lake Onondaga in Syracuse, N.Y., particularly after an impressive showing on Friday when it defeated two-time defending champion Cornell in a repechage, or second chance race, to qualify for the finals on Saturday.

But Brown and Navy, both of which had won qualifying races on Thursday and were idle on Friday, prevailed in the race that counted most. Those crews finished first and second, followed by North-eastern, Syracuse, Penn, and the Orange and Black in sixth and last place.

Lightweights Slip. In the junior varsity race, rowed earlier in the day when head winds and choppy waters favored heavier crews, Princeton's junior varsity finished second. The lightweight varsity, rowing in that event as a warm-up for its trip this month to Henley, England, would normally be expected to outperform the junior varsity heavies. But on this day the lightweights could do no better than sixth.

One Princeton crew recorded a first place finish in the last major weekend of college rowing. The freshman women's crew held off a charge by the University of Wisconsin to win the novice women's national championship in Madison, Wisconsin.

MAYBE ON SUNDAY

Another Tiger Turns Pro. The National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles keep trying to get a Tiger on their team. Spurned by Princeton co-captain Jon Schultheis, the Ivy League's only selection in the foot-ball draft who decided that playing on Sunday would conflict with his planned career in the ministry, the Eagles now have invited Princeton's other offensive guard to join their tryout camp.

The Eagles signed Rob Haywood, a 6-foot-2, 250-pounder, as a free agent. Haywood played defense in his sophomore and junior years at Princeton, and was switched to offense in his final season. Philadelphia hopes to use Haywood as they might have used Schultheis, as a player who can perform at guard or center, and handle the long snaps on punts and kicks.

PHS GIRLS ADVANCE

In State Lacrosse Tournament. The Princeton High School girls lacrosse team outlasted Moorestown Friends, 12-11, last week and has advanced to the semi-finals of the state lacrosse teams. The Little Tigers (14-2) were scheduled to play their nemesis Montville this week on a neutral field.

Sports Fans!
I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

What was the first sports event EVER televised? The first game ever on TV was a college baseball game between Princeton and Columbia on May 17, 1939 over a pioneer TV station in New York with Bill Stern as the announcer.

THE BUCKS STOP HERE. A famous slogan, but not true with S.D.B. claim payments.

Only 6 players in baseball history have ever won the National or American League Most Valuable Player Award 3 times... Can you name the only players who won 3 MVP Awards? They are Yogi Berra, Roy Campanella, Joe DiMaggio, Jimmy Foxx, Mickey Mantle and Stan Musial.

Here's an oddity about Atlanta Braves manager, Joe Torre. Although Torre was a good hitter when he played in the majors from 1960 to 1977, and won the batting championship of the National League in 1971, Torre had a day at bat that tied an all-time record-in-reverse... On May 21, 1975, Torre, playing for the Mets, came to bat 4 times and grounded into a double play each time... Torre, thus, swung the bat 4 times and accounted for 8 outs!

On Friday, against visiting Moorestown Friends PHS had a Goal in 16 Seconds. The all it could handle, game was only 16 seconds old Moorestown, which posted a when Rita Sweeney scored on fine 12-3 record in the an assist from Harper Hoff to Delaware Valley League, kept give PHS a quick lead. Lisa Macrae's goal brought Moorestown even at the 2:30 mark but then Princeton's Alison Fraker scored after being set up by some crisp passing by Hoff and Lisa Blair. Erica Gabrielsen scored and Fraker scored again on an assist from Sweeney.

The game was less than five minutes old, PHS had a 4-1 lead. The Blue and White's passing and ball handling was much crisper than that of the visitors. The ingredients were there for Moorestown to fold but it never happened.

Karlynn Wesley sandwiched a pair of goals for the visitors around one by Hoff to narrow Princeton's lead to 5-3 and when Alice Rippett and Ale Okcuoglu scored the scored was tied for the second time at 5-5.

PHS took the lead again on goals by Blair and Sweeney and after Anita Horsely scored to bring the Friends within one, 7-6, Fraker came back in the last minute of play in the first half to tally the third of her four goals to give PHS an 8-6 half-time lead.

In the second half, the two teams battled back and forth. Clohossey thwarted the Gabrielsen, Hoff and Fraker just seconds left. "Our defense rose to the occasion," commented Jones. "There was a lot of pressure on us."

Jones cited Pat Hucks and Nadia Glucksberg for their defensive play. On offense, she observed that Fraker had played a "super game" and Hoff had played well.

Fraker led in scoring for PHS with four goals, while Hoff had three, Sweeney and Gabrielsen two each and Blair one.

TWO TEAMS ARE TIED

For Lead in Men's Softball. After the opening weeks of play in the Princeton Men's Softball League, Conte's Bar and Princeton Italian-American Sportsmen Club are tied for the lead with 6-1 records.

Four teams are tied for second place at 5-2: Princeton Nautilus, Mike's Tavern, Hinkson's and C-Square C. Trailing in the 12-team league are Downtown A.C. and P.M.C. both at 3-4; Princeton Army-Navy and Buffalo Wings, both at 2-5; and Stefanelli's and Marita's Cantina, both winless in seven starts.

A newcomer to the league this season is Princeton Nautilus. The team is comprised of players from last year's Mike's Tavern squad—Ken Bruvik, Mike and Dave Shillaber, Jim Lennon and Nort Parker; from players from the old Center Sports team—Jack, Jeff and Jaime Petrone, Greg Kline, Pat Kahny, and Dave Sweeney; and newcomers from Princeton.

ton area high schools and American Legion baseball teams—Judd Petrone, Brent Robinson, Scott Porreca and Kevin Phox. It is coached by Jeff Petrone, assisted by Nort Parker.

The leading hitters for Nautilus in the early going are Parket, Mike and Dave Shillaber, Kahny, Jaime and Jack Petrone. In slugging, Jaime Petrone has clouted three triples and Dave Shillaber a pair of homers.

Games are played at Community Park, Valley Road and Marquand Park Fields on Tuesday evenings, starting at 6:15. This Sunday, each team will be involved in a double header at the same fields. The first game starts at 2. Two weeks later on the 26th there will be another round of double headers.

MIKE'S TAVERN LEADER

In Women's Softball, The Princeton Women's Slow Pitch Softball League completed its second week of play, with Conte's Bar edging Andy's Tavern, 3-2, and Mike's Tavern rolling over the Army-Navy Store, 19-4.

In a close contest, Conte's Bar scored a run in the top of the first inning, when Monica Greenland's triple drove in Carol Ann Mazzella. Andy's Tavern evened the score in the bottom of the inning, as Cindy Nielsen drove in Donna Woodruff.

Conte's took a 2-1 lead in the top of the second, when Fran Johnston singled home Jackie Rock. Andy's tied the score in the fifth, when Nielsen (3-for-3) drove in Susan Packer. Mary Fox banged from the old Center Sports team—Jack, Jeff and Jaime Petrone, Greg Kline, Pat Kahny, and Dave Sweeney; and newcomers from Princeton.

the top of the sixth, when Greenland (2-for-3) drove in Barbie Falcone with the winning run, Mazzella was the winning pitcher.

In the other game, defending League and Playoff Champion Mike's Tavern defeated Army-Navy Store in a contest that saw the 15-run rule invoked. (A game is ended after five innings if one team is ahead of the other by 15 or more runs, and the home team has batted in the fifth.)

Army-Navy scored in the top of the first, when Theresa Follity batted in Sally Strain. Mike's turned the game into a rout when it tallied three runs in the second, seven in the third, three in the fourth, and six in the fifth. Pacing the 22-hit barrage were Kathy Shillaber, Dee Pearce, Debbie Ficarro, Sallie Toscano (3-for-3), Grace Durland, Clare Baxter (4-for-4), and winning pitcher Lorraine Duthie (3-for-3).

Army-Navy got a run in the third, as Jill Bonin drove in Karen Piper, and added two more in the fifth, on hits by Nina Tocco, Piper, and Liz Armstrong.

The standings:

	W	L	Pct
Mike's Tavern	2	0	1.000
Andy's Tavern	1	1	.500
Conte's Bar	1	1	.500
Army-Navy	0	2	.000

SEASON UNDERWAY

In Princeton Youth Baseball. Delayed by rain, the Princeton Youth Baseball Association's major (11 and 12 year olds) and minor (8-10) got underway last week.

In the major division Friday, Jerry Dismukes pitched a 3-hitter as Princeton-Italian American Sportsmen Club pulled out a 3-1 decision over Post 76 in the late innings. Dismukes aided his own cause with a double and single while Barry Phox also doubled and singled for the losers. Tim Ramsey was the losing pitcher.

Devin Davis got the win as Elks outlasted Engine No. 1, 15-14. Shawn Miller had a triple and drove in four runs for the Elks. Mark Peyton, Joby Hamlet and Martin Kinney each rapped doubles for the victors, Hamlet and Kinney driving in two runs apiece. Grant McCune, Roger Chen, James Font, John Haber, Davis and Hamlet combined for nine singles during the slugfest.

Earlier, Barry Phox of Post 76 fanned 16 to best Mark Peyton of Elks in a 1-0 pitchers' duel. John Abernathy's single was the lone hit yielded by Phox. Roland Glover knocked in the only run with a double. Glover also singled for Post 76 as did Bob Rumsey, Jason Plaks and Lara Taber.

2 GOLDS FOR BUSHNELL

In State Track Meet. In the annual NJSIAA Track and Field Championships held Friday and Saturday at Rutgers Stadium in Piscataway, Princeton High's Bill Bushnell won two state crowns, winning the 3200 meter on Friday and the 1600 meter the following day in a dead heat.

Stephen Fletcher set new group and state records in winning the 110 high hurdles in a career best time of 13.7 and P.J. Wright won a gold medal in the Group II shot put competition but it wasn't enough for the Little Tigers to win the Group II state team.

title. Asbury Park claimed the team title with 39 points, followed by Clifford Scott High School with 31. PHS finished with 24.

All three hope to compete in the Meet of Champions this Wednesday at South Plainfield. Bushnell intends to fly out to California the following day to participate in the prestigious Golden West Invitational.

Bushnell was not pressed hard in winning the 3200. His time of 9:29.8 was 12 seconds faster than the 9:41.5 posted by Manchester's Pierre L'itinnier.

Young heaved the shot 55-0 feet to win that event by a foot over Don Bulger of Pequanock. Young was not particularly happy with his effort. "It's going to take over 60 feet to win that one (the Meet of Champions) next week," he predicted, noting that Jim Gilligan of Toms River had won the Group IV shot put crown with a toss of 60-1.

In the girls competition on Friday, Kerri Phox of PHS finished third in the long jump with a leap of 16-6 1/2. The winning jump measured 18-1 1/2.

Bushnell in Dead Heat. Bushnell had predicted he faced much stiffer competition in the 1600 meter event and he was right on the mark. In one of the day's most exciting races featuring several lead changes, Bushnell moved in front of Lawrence High's Jon Hersch at the start of the bell lap. Down the final straightaway, Lamont Hill of Penns Grove took the lead but Bushnell forged back into contention in the last 20 yards and together the two hit the tape. Both were timed in 4:20.4. After a conference by race officials, Bushnell was declared the winner. Like his time in the 3200 the previous day, Bushnell's clocking in the 1600 was his career best.

New Mark for Fletcher. While Bushnell had hoped to break 4:24 in the 1600 meter and just missed, Fletcher was hoping to set a personal best in the 110 high hurdles.

His 13.7 was not only a personal best but better than the previous Group II standard of 14.2 set by Lou Henry of Asbury Park in 1981 and the previous state record of 13.8 set by Marvin Booker of Camden in 1981 and tied last year by Tony Davis of Scotch Plains.

Fletcher admitted that he wasn't smooth in hitting four hurdles and knocking over a couple more en route to his win but he is satisfied that the technique he feels has been lacking has returned. "If the competition is there I know I can run 13.3, maybe faster," said Fletcher.

Fletcher and his father, Lamont, his coach, had been concerned about getting invitations to national track events for more experience against top flight hurdlers for Stephan, who hopes to be able to earn a berth on the 1984 U.S. Olympic team. Now that Fletcher has cut his best time from 13.9 to 13.7 in eight days, Fletcher Sr. commented, "We're hoping for some national invitations."

For comparison, the second-place time in the Group II was a 14.2 by Asbury Park's Kraig Sanders—the same time that Kevin McGorty of Westfield ran to win the 110H in the Group IV division.

In the girls competition Saturday, Princeton High's Gail Woolston finished third in the 400 with a time of 58.8. Jackie Bobien of Clifford Scott won the event in 55.8.

PHOX PICKS KANSAS

Will Play Football. Princeton High senior Terrence Phox, who has lettered in football, basketball and track for the Little Tigers the last three years, has signed a letter of intent to enter Kansas Wesleyan in the fall where he will play football for the Coyotes.

The 6-1, 185-pound quarterback on the PHS football team, Phox was named to the All County, All Mercer County and All Colonial Valley Conference teams. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Phox of 11 Birch Avenue.

Said Kansas Wesleyan football coach Jon Bingsesser on hearing of Phox's decision, "We are happy to have Terrence as a member of our Coyote team."

Phox also intends to play basketball at Kansas where coach Jerry Jones commented, "Terrence has the ability to have a fine career here at Kansas Wesleyan."

PALMER STADIUM SITE

Of Women's Track Meet. At

Princeton University's Palmer Stadium Sunday, the New Jersey Women's Track and Field Coaches Association will host America's premier girl's prep track and field championship, "The Silver East Invitational."

The meet will feature some of the top female high school athletes from across the country. Starting time is 2 p.m. and admission is free for schools, athletic clubs and associations, civic organizations and senior citizens.

PHS PLACES TWO

On CVC Baseball Team. Two players from Princeton High School have been named to the First Team All Colonial Valley Conference team selected by the team coaches.

Seniors Ralph Carnevale, the Little Tigers' slugging catcher who batted .428, and smooth fielding center fielder Terry Phox, who ended with a .300 average, were named to the first team. Ewing and Notre Dame with four selections each led in the balloting.

Chris Hoover, senior first baseman for PHS, was named to the CVC second team. He was second behind Carnevale in batting with a .327 average. Junior Dino D'Angelo, a pitcher-infielder, and sophomore Gavin Hulsman, a pitcher-outfielder for the Little Tigers, received honorable mention. Hulsman was the top pitcher this season for PHS with a 3-1 record.

CVC Track Team. The coaches' selection for the first team CVC track team includes three Princeton High performers—each named the best in the league in two events. Bill Bushnell was named in the 1600 and 3200 meter events. Stephan Fletcher in the 110 high hurdles and 440 intermediate hurdles and P.J. Young in the shot and discus.

Named to the CVC second team from PHS were Mike Schwab, 800 meter, Ken McKellar, 110 high hurdles and high jump, and Eddie Rice, long jump. Steve Schwab of PHS received honorable mention in the 800 meter.

FOUR FROM HUN NAMED.

To All-Prep, All State Team. The Hun School baseball team, which lost the Class A prep school state championship game to Peddie, had three of its players named to the All-Prep All State team. Lawrenceville School had the most with four.

Named from Hun were pitcher Pete Stam, who had nine of Hun's 13 wins (the last 3); second baseman Martin Summers, who led the Raiders in hitting with a .409 average, and centerfielder Paul Pintella, who led the area in home runs with seven and capped a fine career at Hun with a .380 average.

Four from Hun were named to the Division A first team: outfielder Chris Hunninghake and Stam, Summers and Pintella. Junior pitcher Rich Stout, who hurled the area's only perfect game this season, and senior first baseman Dean Forman were named to the Division A second team.

Named to the All Prep Division B first team from Princeton Day School were third baseman Andy Bing and utility player Scott Roberts. Both are juniors.

Named to the Division B second team were first baseman Erik Ott and outfielders Mike Blaxill and Erik Schweibert. Blaxill is a junior.

7-2 record into its dual meet meeting with Princeton High last week, but the Cardinals were no match for the undefeated Little Tigers (8-0) who coasted to an 85-46 win. PHS, in winning, claimed the Colonial Valley Conference crown with a 7-0 league mark. Princeton's big winners all season finished off with a competitive workout. This program is open to any swimmer who needs a highly competitive workout. For PASDA affiliation. For information and fees on the competitive swim program, call the Recreation Office at 921-9480.

THE MARGIN OF VICTORY
Five Seconds in Bike Race. Gunther Hoyt of the Princeton-based Century Riding Club was a five-second victor over CRC teammate Joe Weingart in the N.J. Time Trial League's 10-mile for Sunday at Allentown. Hoyt held next Saturday, June 18, at was timed in 25 minutes, 241 on the Washington Road seconds, Weingart in 25 minutes, 29 seconds.

Other first-place winners for PHS were Mike Schwab in the 800, where he had a 1:59.6 to Steve Schwab's second-place time of 2:01.7; Elliott Liverman in the javelin, Ken McKellar in the high jump and Eric Itapp in the pole vault.

KRAFT TO LEAD
Community Tennis Program. The Princeton Community Tennis Program will be under the new direction of Steven Kraft when it begins its 28th season of group tennis classes on June 20.

Kraft, recently the coordinator of national junior competition for the United States Tennis Association, reports, "We are gradually reworking our teacher training process and written instructional guides so that the needs of today's players can be met more effectively. The focus of our teaching will shift from racket-work as an isolated technique to whole-body awareness and development."

Specific new features include small-group afternoon classes, an acceleration program, a tournament team for ranked junior players, and the first Father's Day Classic Tournament for men 40 and over. The Program will continue to offer its all-day camp for juniors, directed by Kraft.

Registration is now open for junior players, adults and seniors. To register, call 924-4343 or stop in at the PCTP office, 71 University Place.

INTO THE MOUTHS OF BABES and the thousands of others who attended the Heavenly Fete last Saturday went a wide variety of food and drink, as sunny skies attracted what may have been a record crowd (no official count is made). Collins, And Opponents Gearing Up For Another Round over Inn Addition

On the one hand, these are the people who took away the sculpture of the man eating his lunch and replaced it with some fancy boutique selling women's perfumes. They gave the boot to Brophy's and sent the Nassau Deli out to lunch permanently. They gave the Boy Scouts the impression that they couldn't sell their Christmas trees on the green in front of the Nassau Inn.

On the other hand these are the people chosen by Princeton University, from a flock of potential buyers, as the ones most capable of managing and expanding Palmer Square in a way that would be at once profitable and also consistent with the long-range goals and idiosyncratic personality of Princeton.

Square three years ago. Two years ago we purchased it and went to the Planning Board for preliminary site plan approval. One year ago we had second thoughts about certain aspects of the projects and we went through the whole process all over again. Now we're getting ready to put the plan into action and people are coming out of the woodwork to try to stop a plan that's been approved not once but twice."

"People in this business come up to us and say, 'you're developing in Princeton? Are you nuts?' " Last anyone feel sorry for Jim Harvie and Collins, the record

Quiet Closing Planned For Littlebrook School

Constructed 26 years ago as one of the monuments to the post-war baby boom, the Littlebrook School this Friday will go the way of many other products of that era: It will close — not with a bang or a whimper, but with the gentle release of several hundred helium-filled balloons.

"We're planning nothing elaborate," said George Petrillo, Littlebrook's last principal. "It will be the typical end of the year ceremony except, instead of everyone moving up a year, everyone will be moving out. This time we'll be saying goodbye."

This year's fourth and fifth graders will be entering the middle school in the fall — the middle school will now begin with the fifth grade instead of the sixth. All other Littlebrook School children will end up at Riverside School. So will Mr. Petrillo, who will take over for the retiring principal there, Gene Berlinger.

The Littlebrook facility itself has been largely rented out by the Board of Education. The new tenants are expected to include the Lewis Clinic, a school for children with dyslexia; the Sandbox Tech and Nassau Cooperative nursery schools; and the Lakeside Montessori Center, another private nursery school which will rent the nine rooms in the back wing of the building.

The Princeton Junction Railroad Station To Be Modernized by New Jersey Transit

If the scenario envisioned by New Jersey Transit actually comes true, the now dilapidated Princeton Junction railroad station will someday be a modern facility, with raised platform leading directly to the train cars, and surrounded by a thriving commercial development.

The statewide public transportation company took one step toward that goal last week when it announced that, after seven years of legal proceedings, it had finally purchased the Princeton Junction station and 11 other stations in the northeast corridor that it hopes to refurbish.

The repairs planned by New Jersey Transit, which acquired the stations from AMTRAK, include raising the platform, general painting, roof, door, and window repair, repaving of parking lots, new buildings and canopies, walkways, stairs, ramps, lighting, and track crossings.

In addition, New Jersey Transit and AMTRAK will work together in the commercial development of the property surrounding the station at Princeton Junction and will share equally in the proceeds, if any.

Collins Development Corporation, the planners of the Palmer Square expansion in Princeton, already are working up proposals for the Princeton Junction station.

The big question remaining is the timetable, appropriate for anything to do with the railroad.

A New Jersey Transit spokesman said that the reconstruction, expected to cost in excess of $1 million, "will probably begin in 1984, mid '84." He added, perhaps as a railroadman used to seeing timetables go awry, "That's our best estimate. To be safe let's say in the fall of 1984."

The news that New Jersey Transit had acquired the Princeton Junction railroad station with the hope of spawning a commercial development there raised the question of what, if anything, had been done
